Argo

*Sail, Argo, sail out to sea,
Bearing our fondest thought,
Bearing the joys and hopes and fears
That college days have wrought.*

*Out on the wide deep we send thee,
Where many a bark is lost;
Where statelier ships with wealthier stores
Like thee to the tempest are tossed.*

*Fear neither pirate nor storm—
Thy treasures are not for these;
Thy mission to carry to kind hearts afar
Bright outlooks and fond memories.*

*Go, little dream boat, go,
Out where the billows roll,
And bring us again the fond memories
That time in its swift flight stole.*

We, the Class of Nineteen Twenty-Five, respectfully dedicate this Argo to our friend and advisor,

R. J. Love:

a man
in whom are embodied all those ideals of Westminster that we all hold most dear.

Foreword

Once more a volume of the "Argo" is offered to its friends and supporters. This book has been the outgrowth of the work of the Junior Class, and has not been published with the aspiration of outshining former volumes. Rather has the ideal been to furnish to the class and its friends a memory book in which are portrayed true sketches of our beloved college days as we have lived them. If in future days some harassed and discouraged individual shall be revived for the strife by a glimpse of former efforts, or in the golden rest after accomplishment fond memories be restored by this book, all toil of publication shall be bountifully repaid.

The College

PRESIDENT W. CHARLES WALLACE, D. D.

The Education of Association with the Venerable

At the Commencement season in the deepening twilight on the southern steps of "Old Main" of their student days, a group of college graduates were sitting in reminiscence at the fortieth anniversary of their graduation. The substantial gray-haired executive of an influential business corporation is speaking: "Men, deeply I am grateful for the opportunity of returning to the associations of student days. I am not ashamed that I have for this building such a feeling in the heart of me that I want to kiss the stones of its foundation, as my tribute of appreciation of those men of the primitive days of the College whose sacrificial devotion made the institution possible."

I read in French history that during the Revolution, "A mob swept down a street blazing with cannon, killed the soldiers and pushed on. A few blocks beyond, a white-haired man signaled for them to stop. They were about to trample him in the dust, when their leader exclaimed, 'Citizens, it is De la Eure. Sixty years of clean life are about to address you!' Then the mob stopped, listened, and turned back." And I recall the exclamatory question of William Wordsworth,

*"And who, that walks where men of ancient days
Have wrought with godlike arm the deeds of praise,
Feels not the spirit of the place control,
Or rouse and agitate his laboring soul?"*

The arresting influence of character and the monumental significance of the primary buildings of an institution—what a background upon which to exercise one's self in the processes of expression which is education! Buildings may be mere piles of stones but buildings associated with the experiences of influential characters are transformed by the power of the association. One moment the structure of "Old Main" on a college campus may be a great dead building, as silent and uninspiring as any of the other structures in the neighborhood; the next moment it has been taken up and separated from all its mates forever,—a sacred building, a foundation of inspiration, a fire of poetry and of life—and out of our use of the power of association comes much of our best education and our deepest responsibility.

Association with the venerable! Not only the buildings that are old on a campus, but also the contents and usages of them are monumental, and consequently, are transformed into inspiration of those attitudes and disciplines through the exercise of which inexperience and immaturity may become culture and competence. "The classic halls of Old Main" may become for the student the avenues of approach to education, if during student days one seeks to live in "the Interpreter's House."

Desire for an acquaintance with the classics is, therefore, inevitable for the true collegian, since he is he who is "a member of a body of associates or colleagues" whose serious purpose is an excursion into the atmosphere and presence of the cultural whereby he may experience a quickening and a training which will make him in some degree a master among men,—the acquisition of a valid naturalization as a citizen of the world of thought, the world of educated men. The true collegian will desire to be no smatterer merely, able barely to spell its constitution out, but one who has really comprehended and made use of its chief intellectual processes and is ready to lay his mind alongside its tasks with some confidence that he can master them and can understand why and how they are to be performed. Professionals in the field of achievement—collegians are digressing from the delectable field who in student days avoid serious contact with the classics.

I know that to some minds the word classic is cold and repellant, suggesting something which people tell us we ought to like and which, in consequence, we like the less. It is well to remember a helpful word of Professor Barrett Wendell's that "a classic would not be a classic if it had not interested thousands of human beings, and that what has interested thousands of human beings cannot be without interest to us!"

Reverent of "Old Main", seeking acquaintance with the classics, how memorable may be college days, described by James Martineau: "To a pure and thoughtful mind, nothing can prevent the college years from being a glorious time. The large draughts of knowledge at the moment of most intense thirst; the first trial of the wings of thought out of sight of the home-nest and high amid the mountain air; the fervid friendships springing from a common trust in what is true and good; the fair perspective, changing with the ideal colors, of promised and still promissory years;—these give an unconscious splendor to that time, seldom revealed but by the advent of a paler light in our maturity."

Education Through Personality

I.

A Western College recently declared:

"Character is the most important subject in the curriculum."

It may not be beyond criticism, but expresses a high ideal. We would say the same thing. We count it the supreme thing in Education. We aim to cultivate a love for truth and righteousness, to make young men and women to be true and pure and right. We wish to be a manufactory of persons of character.

Dr. Stoors, in an article on the Puritan Spirit, said: "The Personal Soul in castle or in cabin, in palaces or in chains—that is the supreme thing on the planet, for which indeed the planet was builded and is maintained." When Spurgeon was talking to his students one day he said to them: "In the promotion of a style, the principal thing is the preacher—the man. What you want your address to be, that you must be yourself."

In every line of culture, the same thing is true. Ruskin, in his "Modern Painters", says: "Art is concerned with the rendering of ideals." He urges the introduction from the outset of the moral sense as the criterion of Art. So let it be in every kind of culture. Let the moral and spiritual elements be emphasized. It has ever been to the front with us.

II.

In moulding character, the strongest influence in any school is the personal element. Someone says: "Personal force never goes out of fashion."

1. What a force is the personal influence of students on one another?

Was it Tennyson who said: "I am part of all that I have met". We absorb from those with whom we mingle. Who is there that did not in school have a chum—a man Friday—whose fellowship was congenial and perpetual? Could not something be said from this angle in favor of select groups or clubs, massing the influence of a set of boys or girls. Men live again in minds made better by the presence of others. We are fortunate, as a college, in having such a good constituency to draw from, in gathering a large percentage of our student body from the homes of a good class of people, from Christian families. They come from communities and congregations and families where God is known and Christ is the ideal for man or woman. They bring this with them and give it in measure to the new community of which they form a part. It is good for a young person to become part of such an aggregation, to plunge into such an atmosphere.

It was a fine testimonial to Gladstone, given by a Bishop of England—"I was saved from illness and worse things by getting to know Gladstone." And ten years after he left Oxford men said: "Undergraduates drank less in the 40's because Gladstone had been so courageously abstemious in the 30's".

2. Then, what a strong personal influence is exerted by a teacher in College! Is it too much to say that the very greatest influence on character comes from a teacher who is revered and loved. I wonder if the roll were called if I might not find what I have said confirmed by our own college history. My space is too limited to set forth what I know to be true about men and women of the past, not now living except in the loving thoughts of their pupils—Jeffers and Mehard, Oella J. Patterson, Professors John Mitchell and S. R. Thompson, and may I not include in the list Robert McWatty Russell who not long ago passed from us. I hear their praises, and those of the living as well. May their memories and influence continue, and may character be always kept as the chief thing in our curriculum and the chief instrument in its achievement be—a man or woman.

—ROBERT GRACEY FERGUSON.

Old Main

*White through the trees which keep their silent watch
The old loved building lifts its sturdy front.*

Science Hall

*Within these ivy walls,
Are many wonders seen,
And couples in the halls.*

Music Hall

*In this abode of geniuses unknown,
Sweet music fills the halls with softest tone.*

Gymnasium

*But newly built it stands there, and within
The sound of feet, and whistle piping thin.*

Hillside

*Set on the hill, time-sweetened by the breeze,
Home of a thousand joyous memories.*

Senior Lodge

*Here dwell the mighty, those whose course is run;
Seniors to us, their lives have just begun.*

Cummings House

*A small white house beneath a wide blue sky,
Within the tides of youth and hope run high.*

Thompson House

*High-gabled house so tall and cold,
What wealth of secrets thou dost hold.*

Hayes House

*Home of the Freshmen girls it proudly stands,
Far from the reach of Sophomores' commands.*

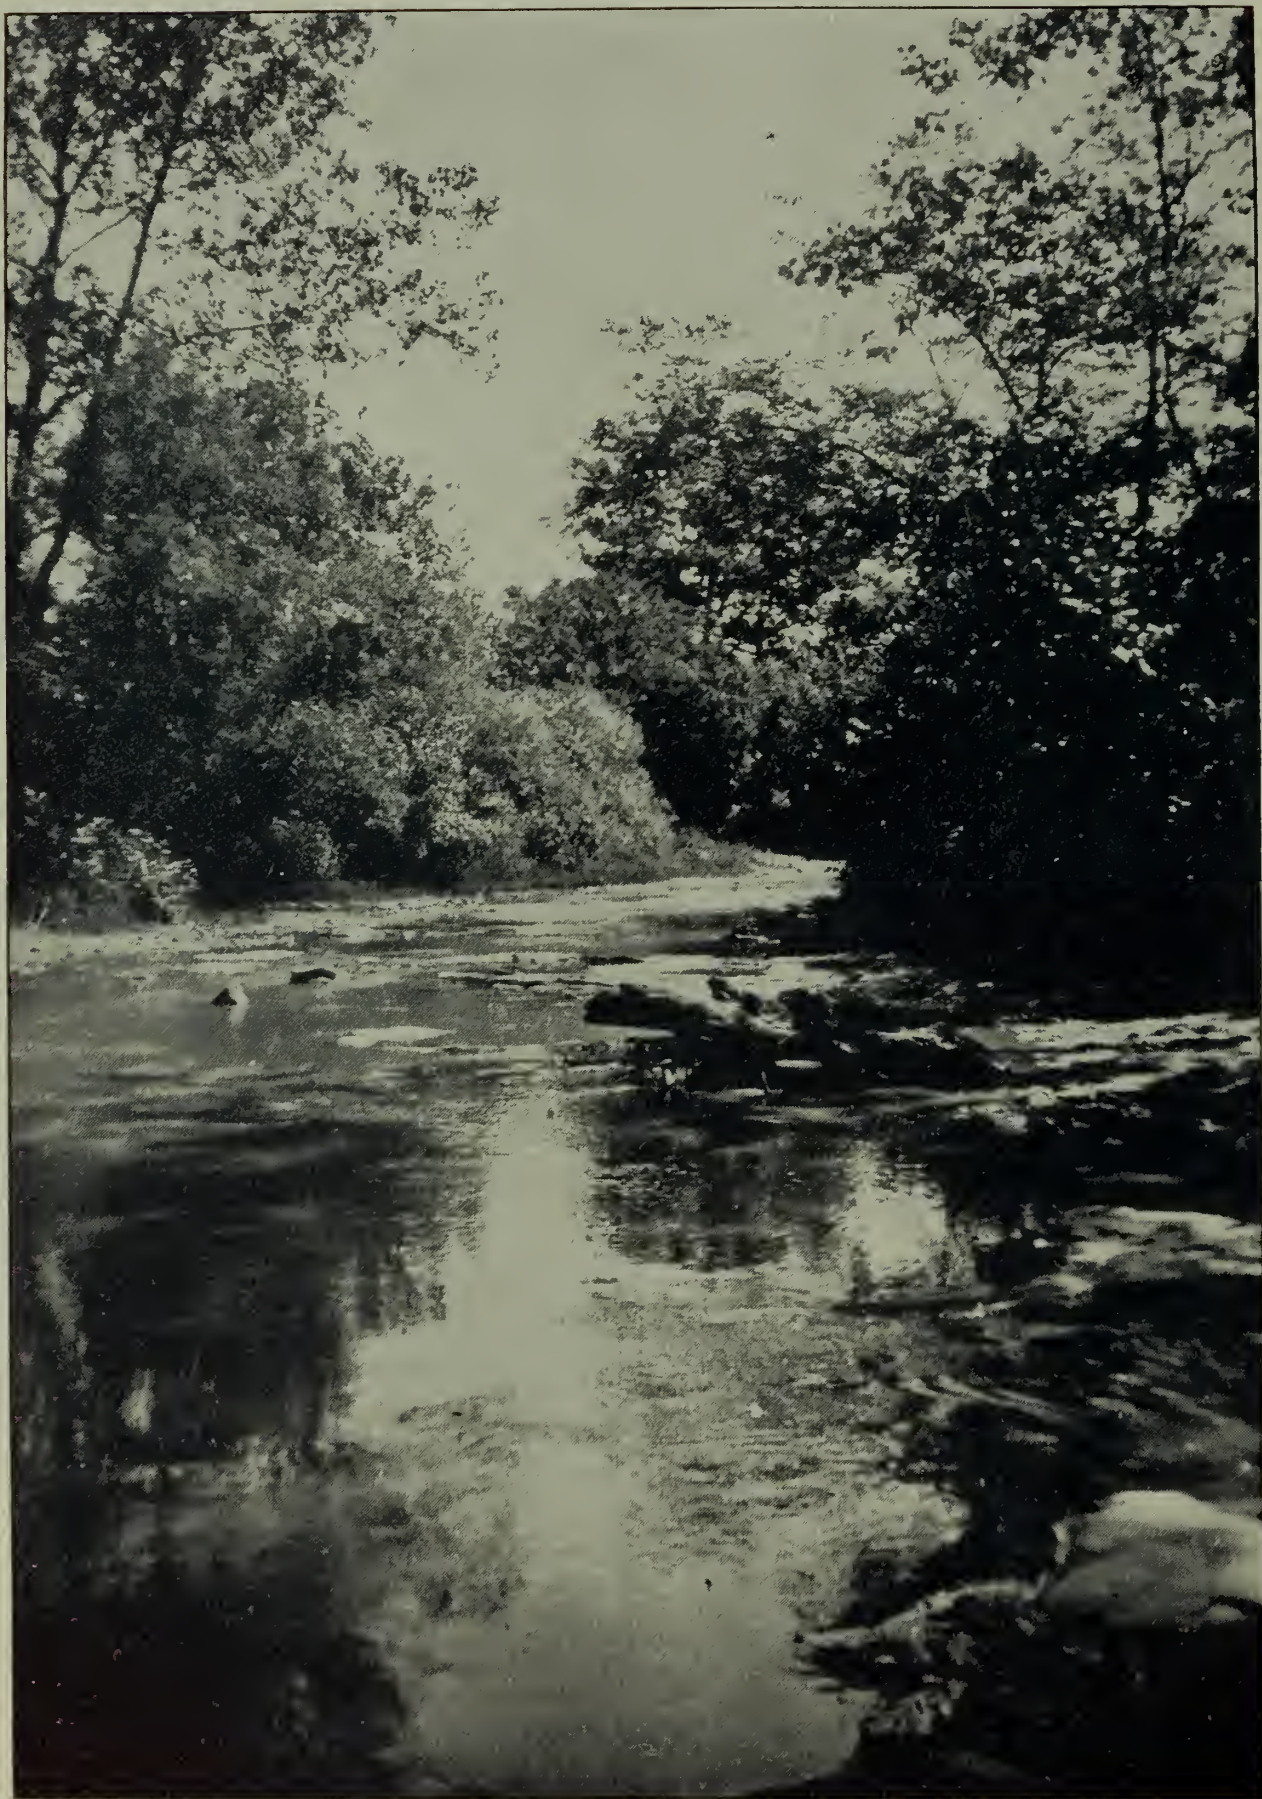

*"Hall of our fathers, home of hallowed mem'ries,
Our Alma Mater, glorious, grand and true."*

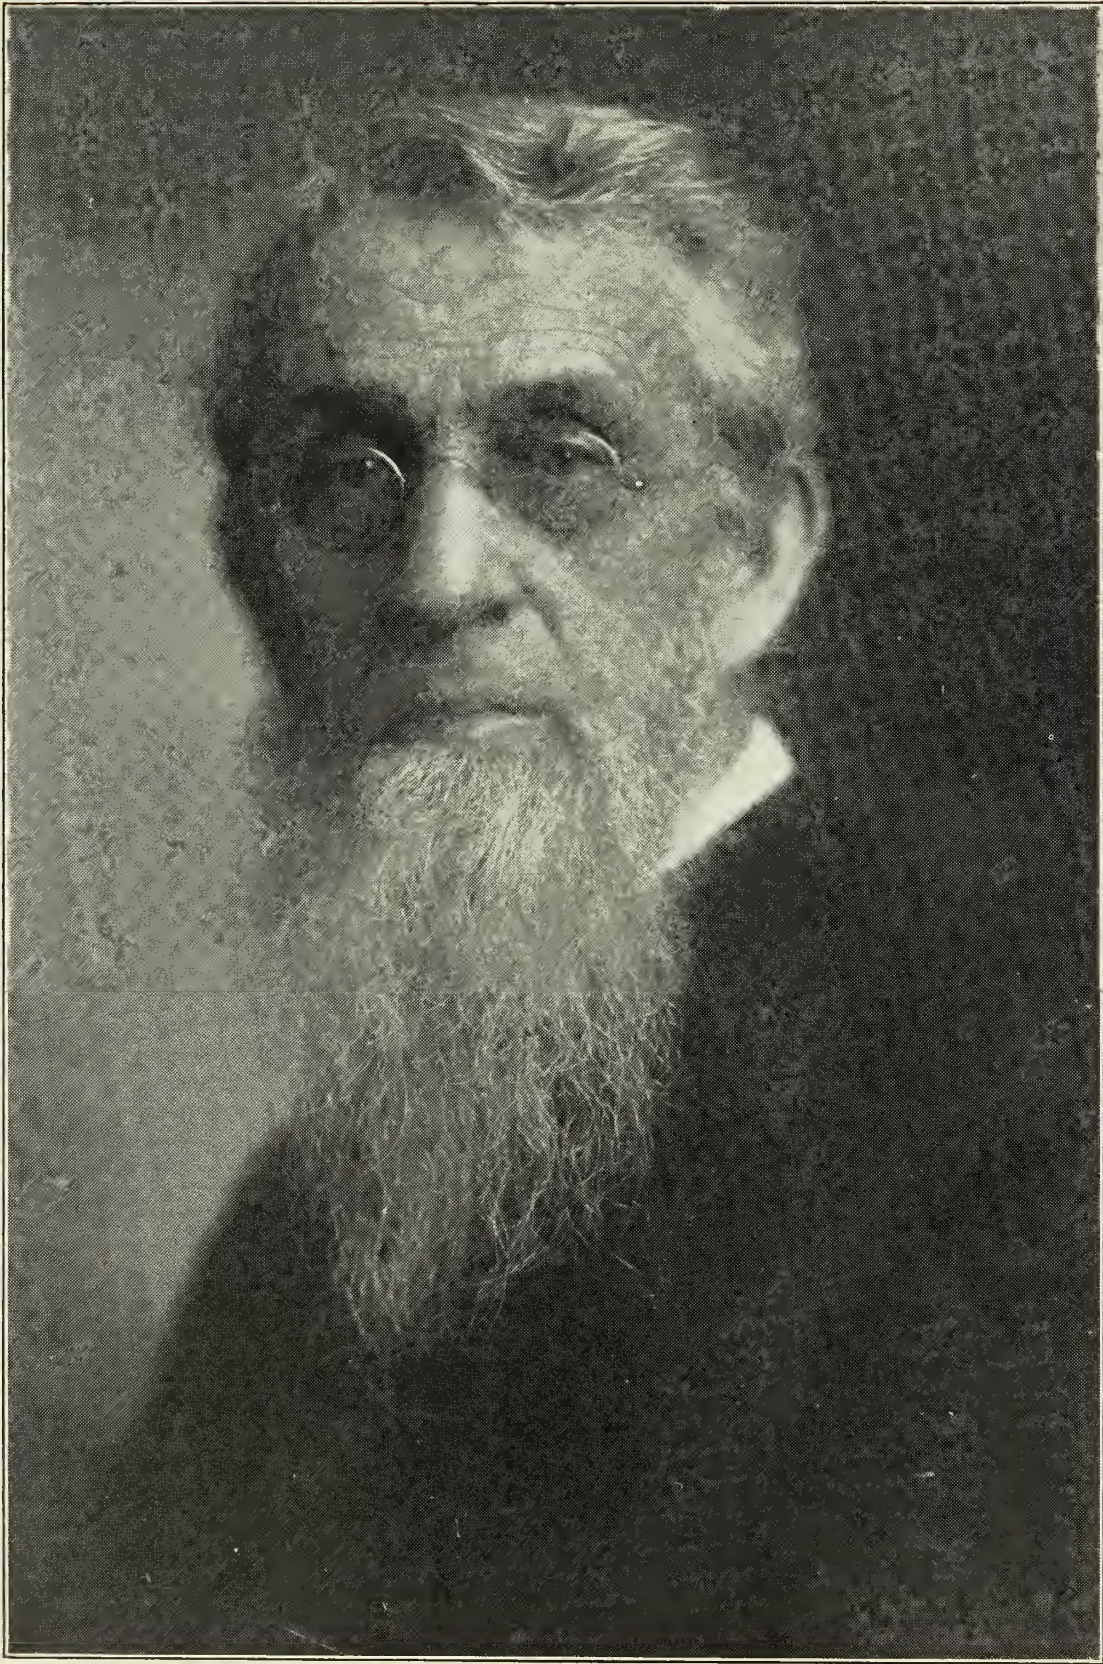

*Down by the creek, beneath the whispering trees
Where many a hopeful couple make their peace;
Spring in the air, spring in each youthful heart
The spot for two's and four's, but never three's.*

Our Tribe Moves On

Our Tribe, the Tribe of '24, stands at a milestone in the trail to ideals long sought for by the nation of Westminsterites. We have experienced a period of transition in its life, from good to better, and we will be glad to lend a hand in each progressive step. We have witnessed the abolition of certain customs and the inauguration of others.

The four years spent upon this ground have been happy ones. We have tripped along on the fair shores of Westminster tradition. Our footprints upon this sandy beach have been more in number and deeper of impression than those of which any other tribe can boast. Many a noble tribe has trod this self-same way to embark in a craft of its own making, upon the sea of life. Our joys and trials have endeared the associations, enriched our minds, and sounded the depths of our souls.

Our warriors have never faltered on the football field, basketball floor, tug o' war, flag rush, in the field meet, or where-not. They have proved themselves dauntless in the presence of their enemies. They have gloried in victory; yet were not dismayed when forced to drink from the bitter cup of defeat.

We are reluctant to surrender the sceptre now; yet we must, that others may prepare themselves for the game of life. When we have departed to the "Happy Hunting Ground", we cannot forget, because our love for the old haunts binds us tighter than hoops of steel. The Spirit will prevail over us, and we will turn our footsteps back from time to time to breathe deeply once more of the benevolent and fragrant atmosphere which can only emanate from this sacred shrine.

"DICK" '24

The XXII Review

The fall of 1921 marked a real epoch in the history of Westminster for not only did it witness the addition of several illustrious members to the faculty, and a new and wonderful gymnasium to the group of College Buildings, but also the arrival on the campus of the one hundred and thirty-five members of the class of nineteen twenty-five. Though at first we were defeated in our struggles with the Sophomores, we always tried to "play the game," and Fortune has since showered a goodly number of victories upon us.

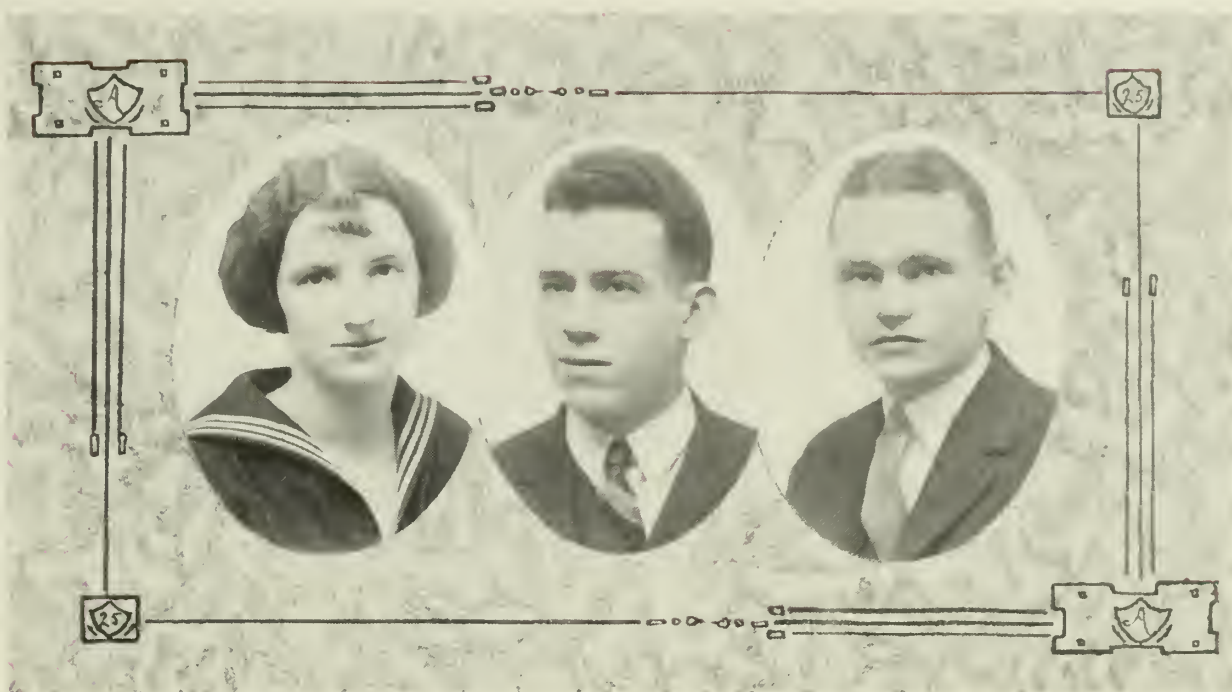

A number of notable events happened during our Freshman year. We had the honor of helping to celebrate the eightieth birthday of Dr. Ferguson, Westminster's "Grand Old Man." William Jennings Bryan heard about us and came to look us over. Sherwood Eddy and Edgar Guest both thought it worth while to visit Westminster.

The second year found us a group of worthy and dignified Sophomores, with the burden of bringing up Freshmen in the way that they should go. We performed the regulation Sophomore activities to the best of our ability. In the spring the girls of the class had charge of the presentation of a successful May Day program.

Our Junior year has been one of great responsibility. The care of the Hallowe'en Party and the Minstrel Show were among our activities, while the production of the Argo required of us much thought and business enterprise.

Our love for Westminster has grown with the passing of the years, and we share with all the other sons and daughters the vision of a "Greater Westminster" in the years to come. Though we can never adequately repay our debt to our Alma Mater, she will always have whatever service we may be able to render, and our life-long devotion and loyalty.

Eyes that speak volumes; in this case, they're worth listening to. Dick has a rare combination of brains and looks which will surely make a dent in this old world. She can act and do it so naturally that when she's natural, you think she's acting. An artistic temperament is generally a nuisance, but this time it adds to the general effect.

Betty is a "chic" name, and in this case it is well placed. This dainty damsel speaks not to excess, studies the required amount, and spends the rest of her time in making her friends like her better. She is also one of the "regulars" on the co-ed list, but we won't hold that against her.

Sometimes known as "Sweetie." She works up more than her share of fun at the Hillside. Always ready with a good come-back. They say that she dances unusually well, but that bit of information is entirely superfluous. She could squeeze through most any fence and not get stuck.

JOHN B. FINDLEY - - - - - Butler, Pa.
Junior Minstrel

Findley is a contented soul. His tastes are simple and his heart is big. Give him a package of Mail Pouch, a place to put his feet, and someone to listen, and he is happy for the rest of the evening. "Fin" is an inconspicuous chap, but when he does step to the front, you know something is coming.

Sophomore Star Dust

September, 1922, was a memorable month in the history of the College, for it was then that the class of 1926 came together as Freshmen.

Our initiation was accomplished after a brave but hopeless struggle on our part, and we soon learned to stand back and accept our lot as Freshmen.

All eyes were turned on our class when we came so near winning the flag rush. The fates were against us, however, and we lost by a margin of two nails.

Not to be daunted by one defeat, we sent men to the varsity football team, and were proud of our lettermen and our scrubs. On the basketball team we had Hetra, Tri-State star, together with several reliable reserves. We lost the Sophomore-Freshman football game after a hard fight, but redeemed our laurels by winning the school basketball championship. In girls' basketball we had several fine players, making our athletic contribution complete.

Just to make our superiority more evident we defeated the Sophomores in inter-class debate. In addition to this and other victories, we had several members on the tennis team, the Glee Clubs, and the debate squad.

The year closed with the class of '26 well established and hopeful for much better success in 1923-24.

This year we came back minus a few of our members, but still filled with the old spirit. We did our part in teaching the Freshmen the old, old lesson; defeated them in the flag rush; fought gamely in a 7-0 football defeat; and won the annual debate. This year the first girls' class debate was held with the sad result of a defeat for '26. We had several stars on the varsity football and basketball teams. Both debate squads have several Sophomore members, and the Glee Clubs are thankful for many Sophomore voices.

If our achievements continue in the future, the Red and Black of '26 will always be bright and shining, hoping to be a potent factor in the "Greater Westminster" that is to be.

History of the Acorns

The advent of the class of '27 began a new era in the history of Westminster College. On September 20, 1923, there arrived upon the campus of the college 111 Freshmen, eager and willing to attempt at least to conquer the world. But a short time after our arrival, the fact that we were but Freshmen was suddenly brought to our attention by our honorable superiors, known as Sophomores. They posted huge posters which gave us the desire to run back home to our mothers' protecting arms. We were made to go through ridiculous performances which bowed our heads in shame, but after three weeks, the persecutions ceased and we were allowed to attack our lessons in peace.

Then came our first chance to get revenge for the way in which we had been mistreated. It was in the form of the flag rush. Our fellows entered bravely into the fight. One of our blood-thirsty lads was half way up the pole when the shot was fired for the end of the first half of the siege. In the end we were defeated, but were yet undaunted. Our time was to come.

A short time afterward we surprised the world by winning a 7-0 victory over the Sophomores' battling eleven. As to our contributions to the varsity football squad, they were many. From our midst went several lettermen and a large number of scrubs who offer prospects for several years to come. To the varsity basketball squad we gave four players. One, "Biff" Logan, proved quite a sensation. Our members turned out well in all other athletic activities.

But the fellows were not the only ones athletically inclined. Quite a few of our fair damsels turned out for basketball and a number made the squad.

In debate our team, composed of Bricker, Ferguson, and Newell, was defeated by the Sophomores in a 2-1 decision. But the defeat was closely followed by a victory. The girls' debate team won a 3-0 decision over the Sophomore girls. This made the defeat of the boys easier to bear and kept up the good reputation of the class.

We have begun a record for our class and are eagerly and willingly endeavoring to benefit the school by our aid. Our one ambition is to make our school proud of us and we sincerely hope that this end may be accomplished.

ATHLETICS

Athletic Council

With the close of the present year the Westminster College Athletic Council closes the first year of its existence on the campus. Into its hands has been placed everything pertaining to the management of athletics. The Council was organized to correlate athletics and its relation to the College, to form a direct contact between the College and the Alumni, and to instill into the minds of the men on the various teams, a spirit of good sportsmanship and its relation to College life.

The Council had its origin during the winter of 1922, when a few loyal Alumni met in a certain office in the Commonwealth Building at Pittsburgh. These men were interested in the College and were anxious to formulate some plan to assist their Alma Mater; at this meeting the constitution was drafted and a committee appointed to present it to the Board of Trustees. The Board approved the plan and the Council was organized in February, 1923, but did not function until the opening of College last September.

The election of coaches and the graduate manager, together with arranging of schedules, purchasing of supplies and a general supervision and financing of all athletic activities, are under the direct supervision of the Council and its representatives. Every element connected with the College is represented on the Council, for it is composed of members of the Board, Faculty, Alumni and Student Body. Dr. D. F. McGill, T. A. Gilkey and H. T. Getty represent the Board of Trustees; Dr. W. Chas. Wallace and Prof. J. A. Swindler, the Faculty; Roy Neville, '02, M. M. Edmundson, '01, and W. B. McCrory, '01, the Alumni; Jerome Wright, '24, Faber Stevenson, '25, and John Hetra, '26, represent the Student Body. The officers of the Council are: President, Roy Neville; Vice-President, W. B. McCrory, and Treasurer, H. T. Getty, the constitution providing that the graduate manager act as secretary.

In placing the handling of athletics in the hands of this body Westminster is following a plan which has proven very successful in many other institutions, and those responsible for its organization here feel sure that with the unified support of all elements of the College, Westminster's representatives on the athletic field and court will be liberally provided for. Since its organization the Council has received the liberal and loyal support of Alumni, Students and Faculty. The Council has stood for clean athletics and all that term implies, realizing that athletics have their proper place in College life, but doing all in its power to keep them in that place.

Intra-Mural Athletic Council

The Intra-Mural Athletic Council has passed through its second year of existence and has well shown its worth. Last spring its first activity was an outdoor track meet which the Crescent Club won. It then staged an All-round Championship which Track Captain "Jerry" Wright won. A Pentathlon run at the same time was won by Captain-elect Randall. An Interclass Meet was captured by the Juniors. Handsome medals were given to the winners and high scorers of these meets.

A baseball league was organized with all the clubs and fraternities on the campus included in the circuit. The Kaps easily won the pennant, passing through the season without a defeat.

When the year's total points for the various sports were added up it was found that the Crescent Club had won the trophy, a handsome loving cup. It is their privilege to keep the coveted emblem one year when it is again awarded to the member of the Council having the highest number of points.

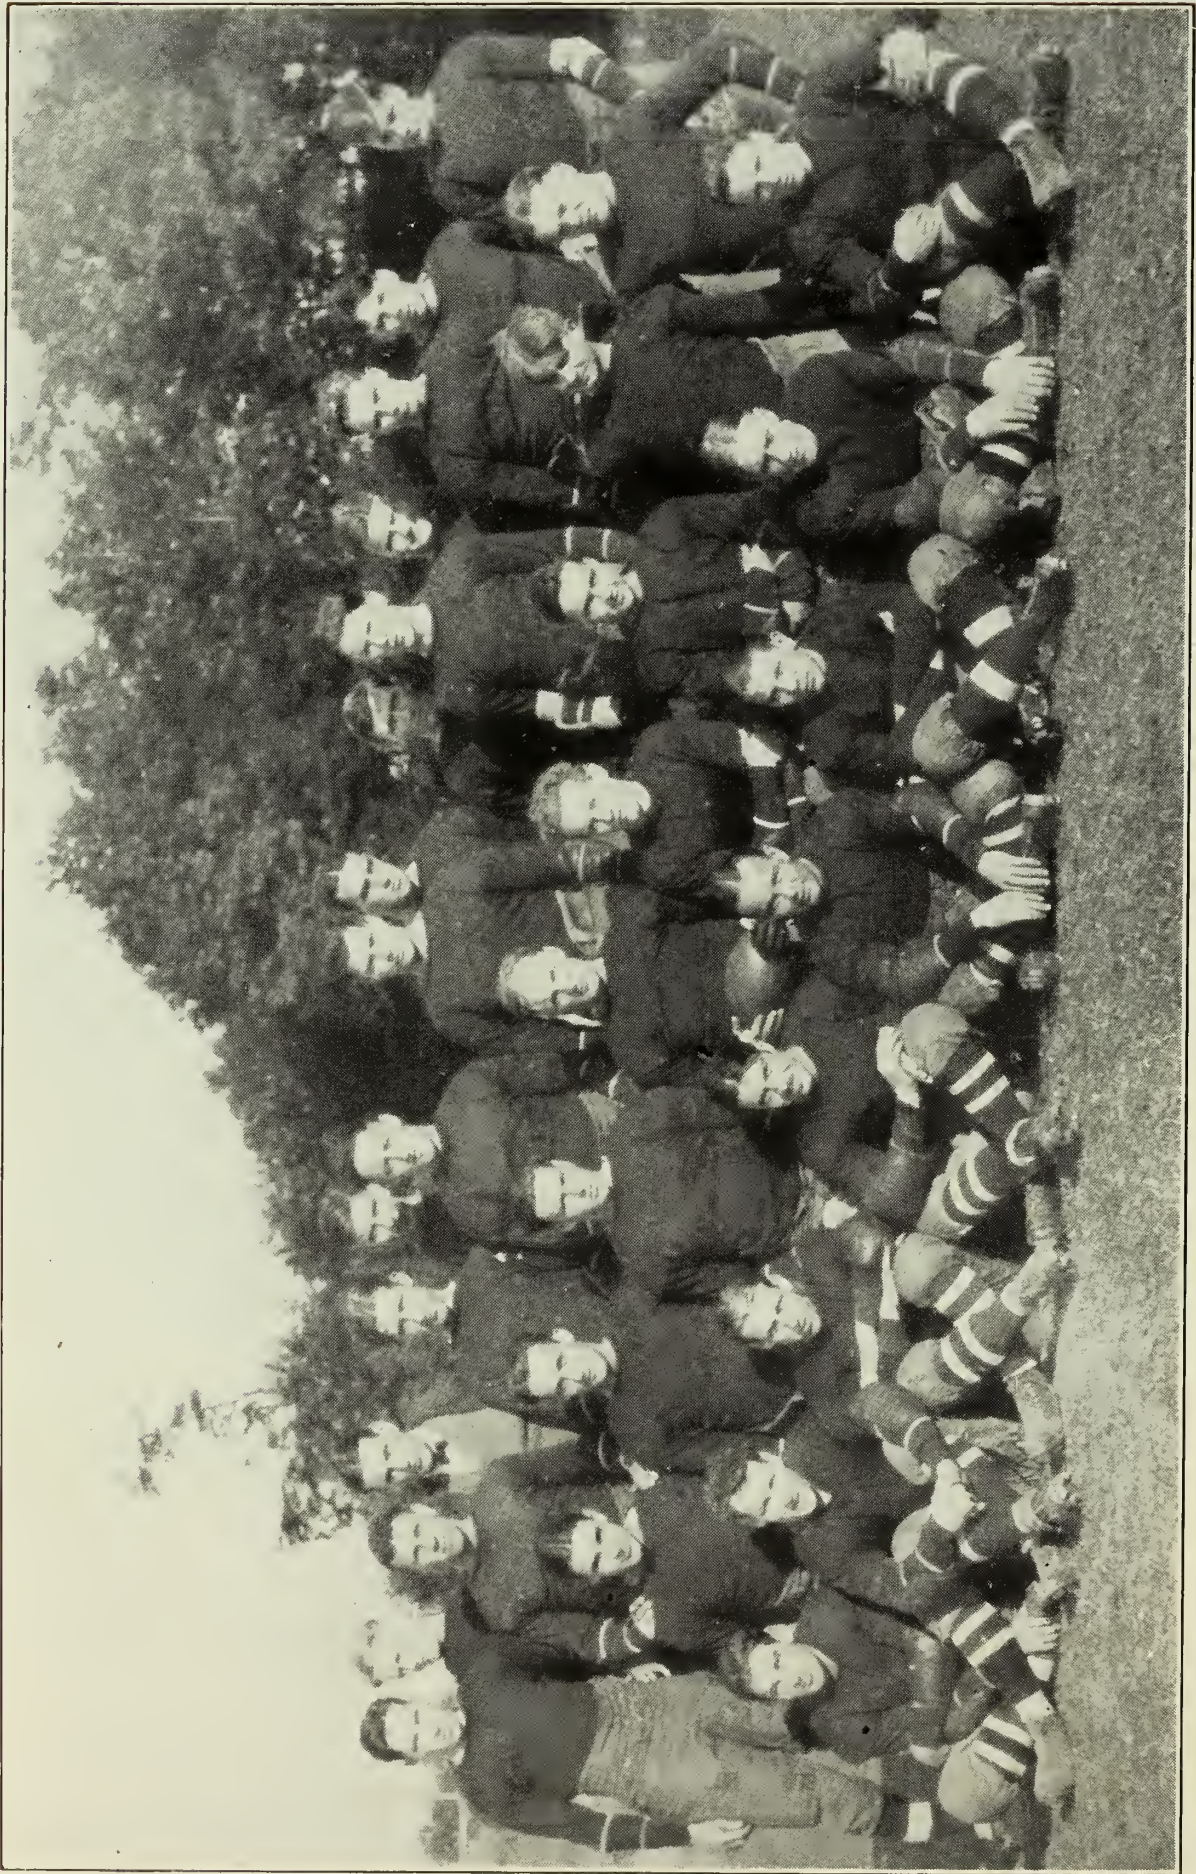

This year a basketball league was soon formed. There were five teams and the games were hotly contested. The Crescents were the winners of this league. No other competitive sports have been arranged as yet but the Council is looking forward to track and baseball in the spring.

FOOTBALL

JEROME E. WRIGHT, Captain - - - - - END

As our football captain "Jerry" again displayed the ability on the gridiron which had characterized his play during former seasons. His dashing offense and steady defense earned for him a second time the selection as an end on the mythical Tri-State Class B team. A true type of Westminster athlete, the football team will miss "Jerry" sadly during coming seasons.

JOHN NEVIN - - - - - STUDENT MANAGER

At the beginning of the year's football season it became known that the managership was open. Accordingly "Johnnie" contended for it. After weeks of patient servitude and toil he was rewarded with the managership. "Johnnie" proved himself very efficient and carried out those duties which befall the lot of a football manager in a highly commendable manner. The outstanding characteristic of his work was his desire to serve the team. This gained for him the highest praises of those who represented Westminster on the gridiron.

CARL BRELOS - - - - - HEAD COACH

Brelos spent his college days at Chicago University where he played end on the varsity football team for three years, being captain of the team his last year. While at Chicago he played under the tutelage of Alonzo Stagg and accumulated a wealth of football knowledge from that nationally known coach. Brelos concentrated his work upon the backfield and left the line to Dwight Dyer.

WILLIAM R. GOLDSTROHM, Captain-Elect - - - - - HALFBACK

“Goldie” is considered one of the best all-around athletes in school by all loyal supporters of the Blue and White. His work on the gridiron is by no means the least of his achievements, as his presence was the shining light on this year’s squad. He has been elected by his team-mates to pilot next year’s squad, and we are all wishing both him and his team a successful season.

EARL McKISSOCK - - - - - GUARD

Earl came here from Syracuse University, where he captained the Freshman eleven last year. After we saw him in action we clearly understood why he was chosen as leader. “Mac” was one of the hard luck crew, suffering all season from a bad leg and a wrenched knee which kept him out of several games and hindered him when he was playing. “Mac” originally played end, but as end material was plentiful, and “Mac” toted lots of avoirdupois, he was used at tackle.

RUSSELL BYLER - - - - - GUARD

“Jeff” stepped out last year and, though a Freshman and inexperienced, procured for himself the coveted “W”. He repeated the performance this year, gaining the admiration of all who saw him play. “Jeff” is just a little man, as football players go, but he held down the guard position with the biggest of them. It took more than an ordinary player to move “Jeff”. Westminster has two more years to enjoy him.

NELSON BRELOS - - - - - HALFBACK

This was Nelson's first year with the Westminster football team, but he proved his worth. Coming to us from Eureka College, Illinois, he soon earned a position as halfback. He demonstrated fully his ability to carry the ball and play the defense in the Duquesne game. Later in the season he did the punting, proving to be an adept at that also. We expect Nelson to be with us again next year.

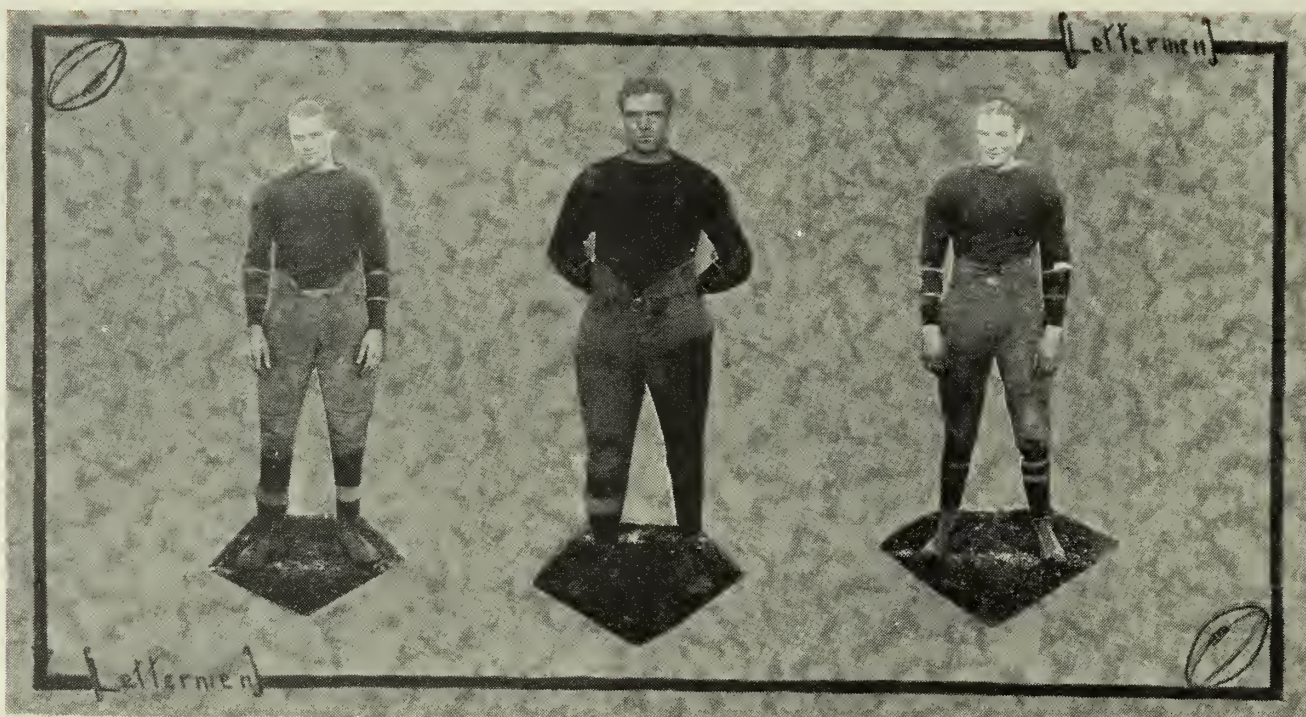

EBERHARDT BRUCKMAN - - - - - HALFBACK

His parents nicknamed him Eberhardt, but his real name is "Abe" or sometimes "Dynamite". The latter was much more appropriate, if signs mean anything. A good healthy stick of the real stuff couldn't tear a bigger hole in a bale of paper than "Dynamite" did in a few well-known lines. He packed a powerful kick which he used to good advantage in gaining driving power. Bruckman played at either half or full, it didn't make much difference to him which. He "did his stuff" wherever he was placed.

BENJAMIN LAVIN - - - - - QUARTERBACK

This "little wonder" came to Westminster shortly after school opened last fall, and his rare ability as quarterback earned him a regular position in the lineup. "Benny" proved to be a very capable and dependable player. Although small in stature, he proved many times the truth of his favorite expression, "The bigger they are, the harder they fall". We surely hope that "Ben" will join the squad next fall.

KENNETH CATLIN - - - - - TACKLE

"Kenny" is just a Freshman this year, but that did not seem to interfere with his football ability. This husky lad from New York State held up his end of the game at tackle in admirable manner. Combining speed with weight, Catlin is a hard man to stop, either on offense or defense. "Ken" will be back with us next year, so we will hear more from him later.

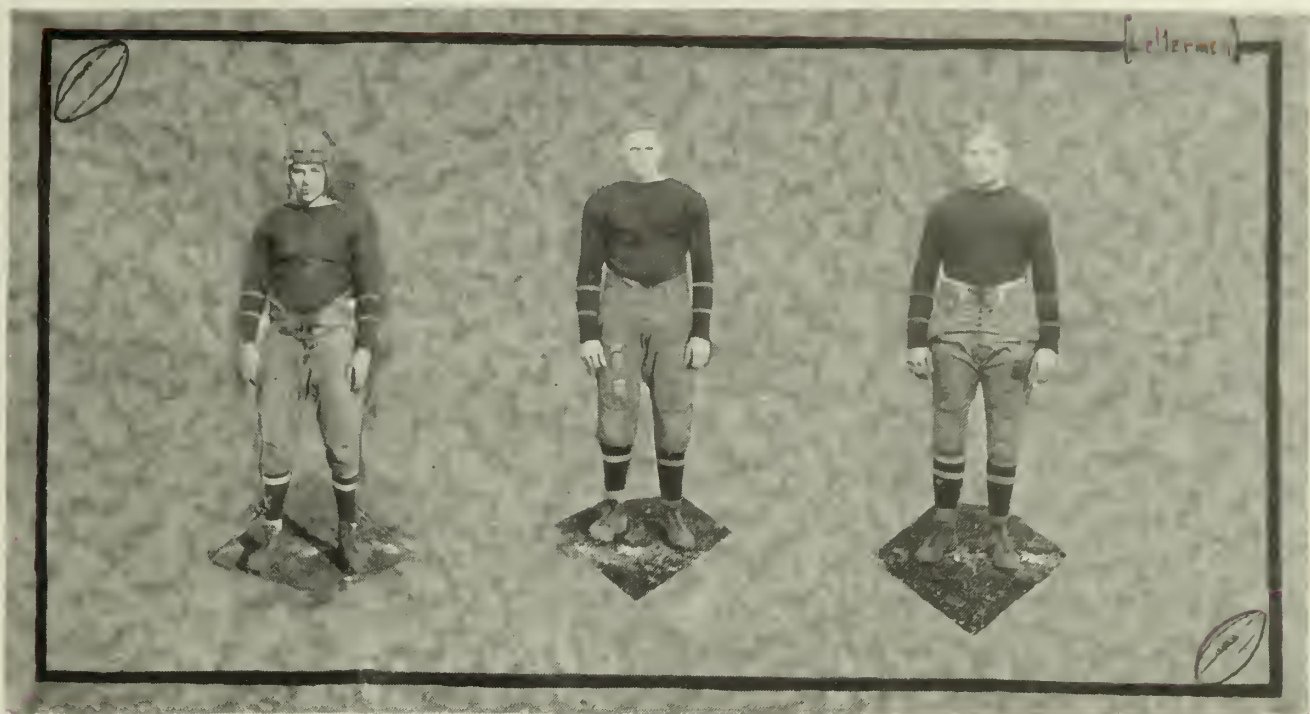

WILLIAM CLEARY - - - - - END

This little Irishman from Erie made a fit running mate for "Jerry". "Bill's" work throughout the entire season, and especially in the Grove City game, marked him as an end of the first water. He is also a good backfield man, playing either quarter or halfback with equal precision, although he is at his best at the terminal position. We will be glad to see "Cleary from Erie" back with us next fall.

DANIEL FEGERT - - - - - TACKLE

"Big Dan" hails from the Middle West Metropolis, and joined the Blue and White this season after a year's stay at West Virginia. "Dan" received a bad injury in the first game of the season but recovered later to add a tower of strength to the line in the capacity of a tackle.

ALLAN HOFFMAN

GUARD

Allan registered as a Freshman last year, and drew recognition immediately when football season started. Although not very large, he made some good-sized holes in the center of the other lines. This year "Huffy" came back to school about twenty-five pounds heavier and aided by a year's experience in college football. It took a big man to put him down, as he showed at Waynesburg.

HOMER BEGGS

END

His name is Homer, but he didn't write the "Iliad", nor will his name be remembered in connection with the "Odyssey", but rather as an end on Westminster's football team. He won his first letter last year as a Freshman, playing a good game of football—this year he played a better game. With two more years to go, he ought to make a name for himself. If he doesn't, it won't be his fault.

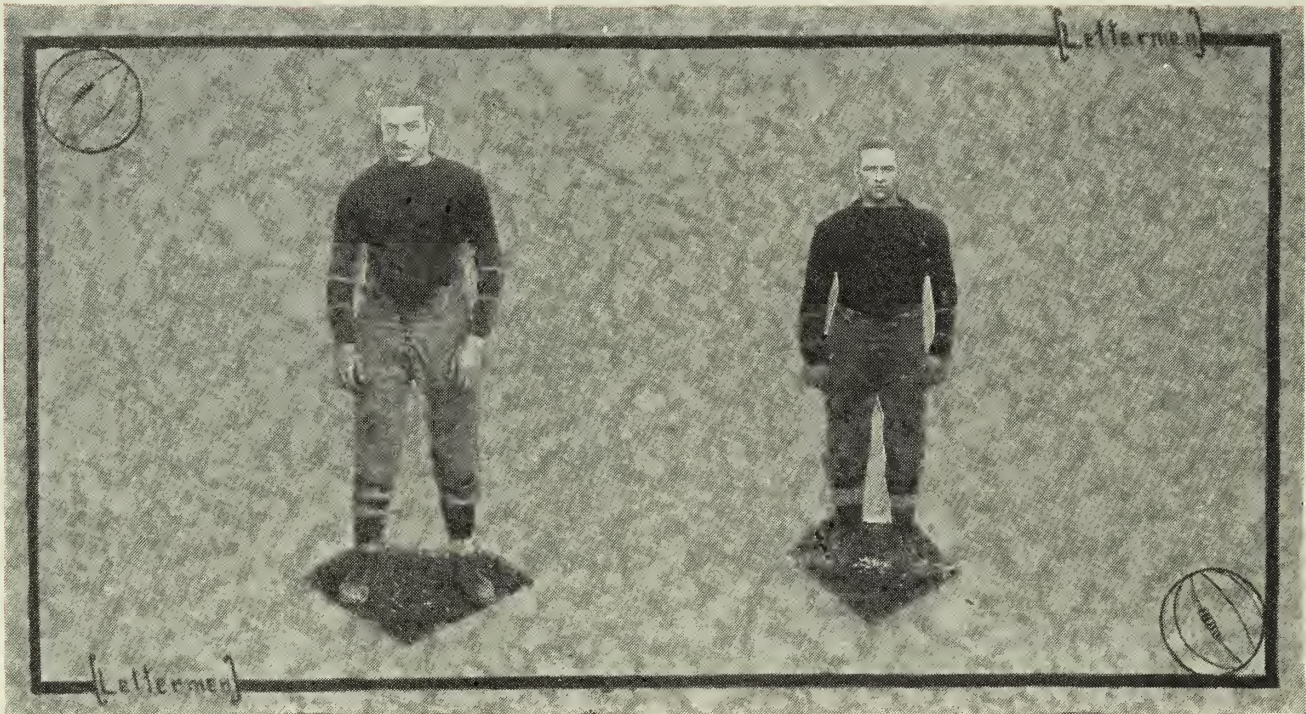

FRANK BLACK

GUARD

"Blackie" confined his football activities to class scraps his first two years. In this way he polished off the rough spots prior to breaking into the "big noise". This came last year with a bang. He took the center position to fill the gap left by "Johnny" Lawther, which he did in a capable manner, although there never was and never will be another John Lawther. This year with the entrance of Larr, "Blackie" was switched to guard, where he earned for himself more praise. We hate to see you go, "Blackie".

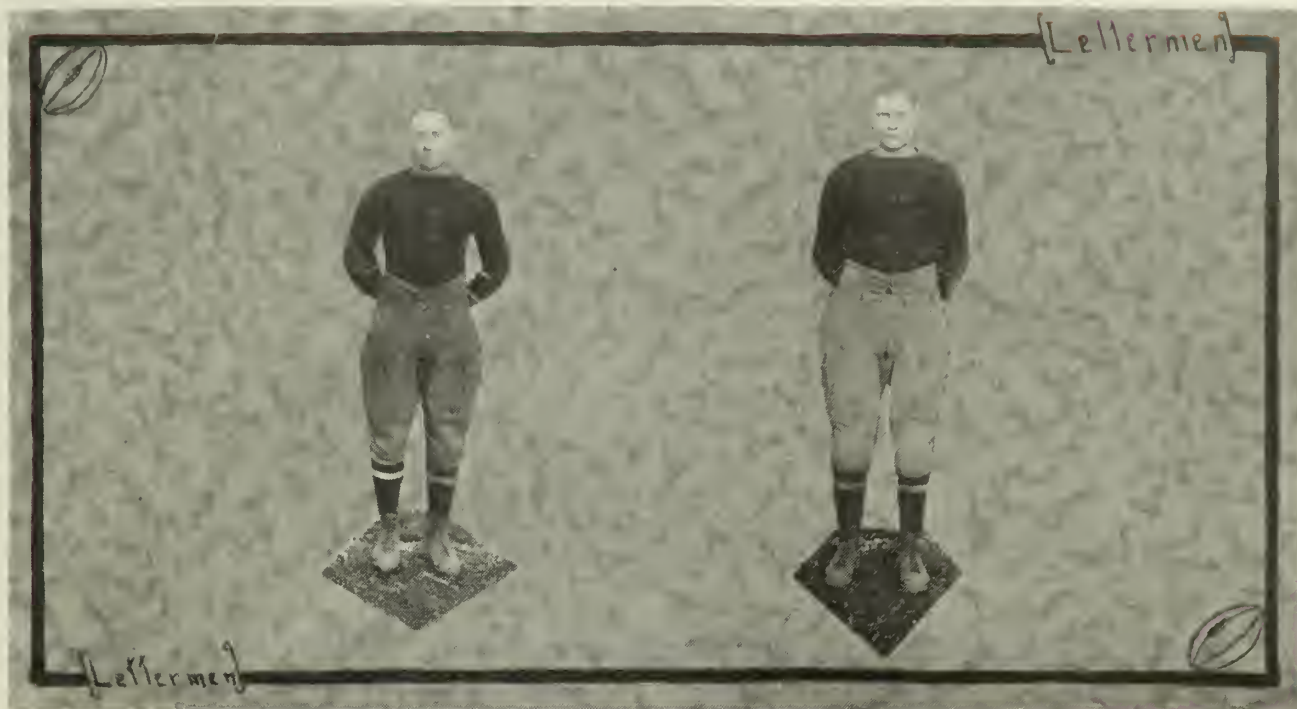

PHILIP REEP - - - - - FULLBACK

Reep emigrated from Eureka College out in Illinois where they don't speak our language. Although he was a foreigner and unable to do much conversing, he played a whale of a game, for a football player doesn't need the prerequisites for a Spanish athlete. "Phil" played fullback on the offense, and up front on the defense. His playing never amounted to much until his nose started to bleed as the direct result of close contact, but as this happened the first or second play of every game, "Phil" didn't merit much panning.

WILLIAM SANDS - - - - - END

"Bill" is just a Freshman this year, but he played a regular end on the varsity lineup. He comes from New Castle High, where he established a wonderful reputation in the grid game. He joined the varsity here this fall and lived up to every expectation. We are expecting great things from "Bill" in the seasons to come.

HAROLD SNYDER - - - - - HALFBACK

"Brute" came to Westminster in 1921 and proceeded to show his wares as an athlete. He went home the following spring the possessor of both a football and basketball "W", also participating in baseball and track. Last year he failed to return to school, but the lure was too great and he was snared for this year. Again he made his letter at football, and he "played a mean game" We look for still bigger things from him next year.

CHARLES TARR - - - - - CENTER

"Charley" came here from W. & J. and we feel that we put one over on the Red and Black when we induced him to continue his pursuit of football and education here at Westminster. Brelos was spared a lot of trials and tribulations about the pivot position when he appeared on the scene. His worries were not entirely eliminated, though, for "Chuck" tried to pull some crooked work and stuck his thumb in the eye of an Alfred Center. The latter had a glass eye, and "Charley" warmed the bench the rest of the season.

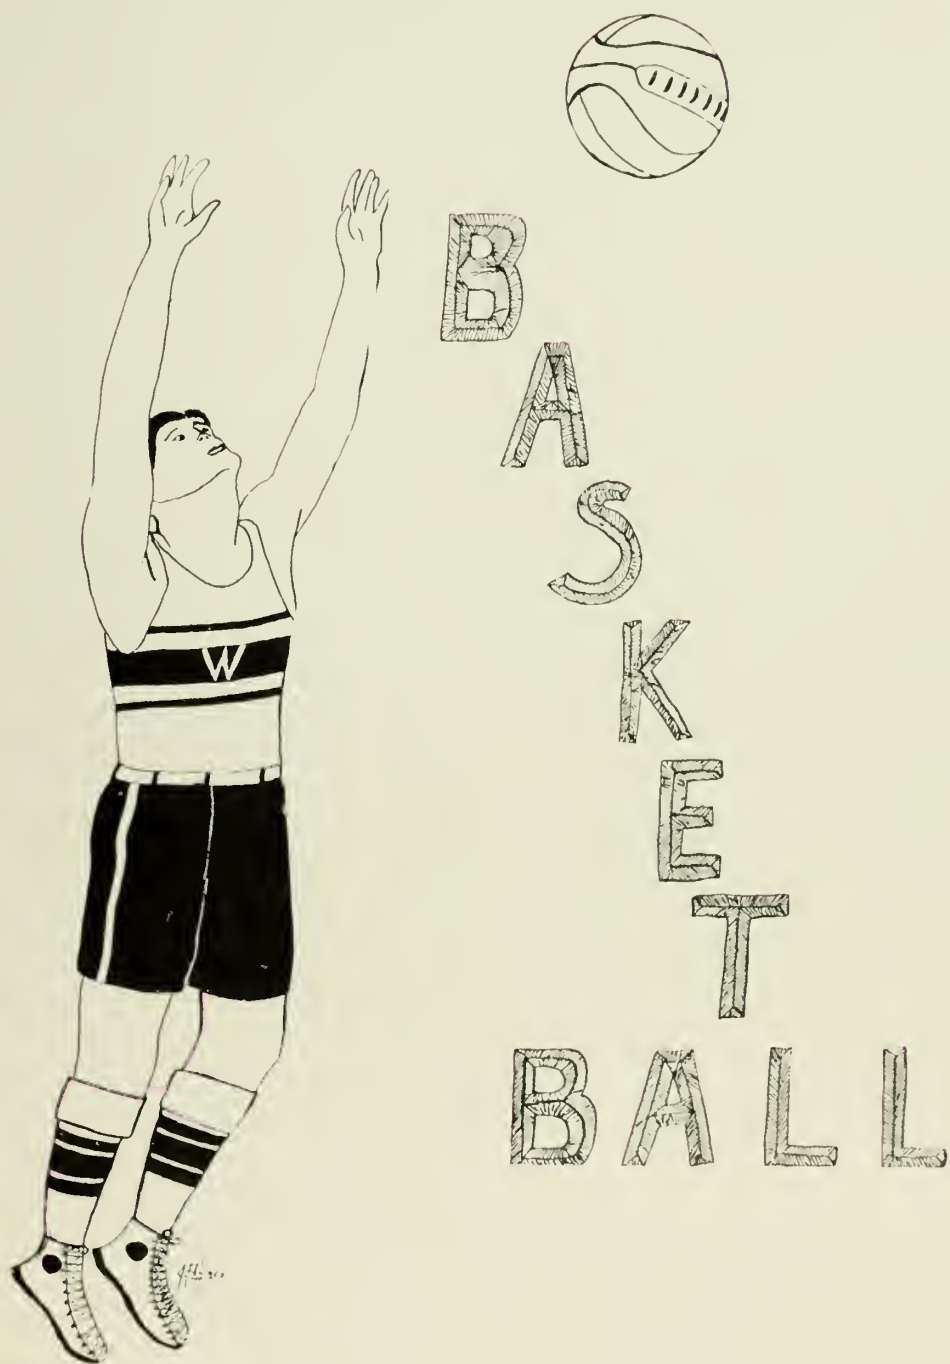

Football Review

Although the past football season may not appear, to the casual observer, to have been successful, the students and alumni along with other close followers of the school watched the team with a keen interest. It mattered not so much how the percentage stood as to games won and lost; of course, everyone would have been happier had the team won all the games. Yet the main interest was centered in the newly created office of graduate manager. A. A. ("Andy") McDonald was chosen to fill this office, and it is our belief that a better man could not have been picked. "Andy" did not get into office until very late in the summer,—in fact just before the fall term began,—but immediately upon his arrival the heretofore haphazard jumble began to take on the appearance of a well-organized system, and the hopes that Westminster might again be graced with the type of team that once played under the Blue and White seemed about to be realized.

Then came the actual football season, and prospects looked even brighter when St. Francis fell, an easy prey, to the tune of 33-0. It certainly looked as though Dame Fortune had finally smiled upon Westminster. It proved, however, that in reality she had laughed up her sleeve, for in the fracas "Danny" Fegert was lost to the squad through a cracked shoulder. Following this accident, McKissock had an old wound in his leg opened, and about the time it healed, he began to be troubled with a bad knee. These injuries took two tackles out, leaving a hole in the line. Next came "Jerry" Wright with a sprained back, and the team lost the services of its leader. Remembering that "Jerry" was considered one of the best ends in this part of the country the preceding year, we appreciated his absence the more deeply. But the end had not yet come. "Goldie" joined the hospital squad with a wrenched ankle, and Tarr enrolled also, a broken thumb making him eligible. With five regulars out, the team was greatly handicapped, and we lost three tough games in a row by one touchdown.

The season is all over now, and we are looking forward to big things for next year. "Andy" McDonald has been busy, and apparently is very optimistic. Dyer has been appointed head coach, much to the satisfaction of all concerned. He knows football, and is well liked—which is an important factor in producing a winning team. All in all, 1924 looks like a big year.

CLARENCE RANDALL, Captain - - - - - CENTER

“Randy” played his last basketball for Westminster this year. For four years he has been a member of the team, and his passing from the limelight will leave a vacancy hard to fill. “Randy” not only plays basketball, but has engaged in all the other major sports. He is one of the three four-letter men in school, having played a tackle on the football team, pitched for the baseball team, and competed in several track events.

JOHN C. LEONARD - - - - - STUDENT MANAGER

“Jack” has been running around the campus for four years now, keeping out of the way of other people and prying a flock of “A’s” and “B’s” out of hard-fisted Profs. He took up basketball his junior year and took a liking to the sport, and went out as assistant manager for the varsity. This year he was the “big guy”, and has the distinction of being the last student manager to make out an entire schedule.

E. DWIGHT DYER - - - - - COACH

Dyer came to us last fall as Assistant Football Coach and Athletic Director. He immediately began to take the place by storm. Everyone was pleased to hear that he was made Head Coach for basketball. While the floor game was still in progress and Dyer was having a successful season, the Athletic Council selected him as football coach for next year. We hope to see Dyer as successful on the gridiron next fall as he has been in the winter sport this year.

WILLIAM CLEARY, Captain-Elect - - - - - FORWARD

“Bill” didn’t play varsity basketball his first year here; instead he confined himself to class competition. His second year the team needed a running guard, so “Bill” took the job. This year he started out at guard again, but was soon switched to forward, starring in both positions to such an extent that he has been elected captain for next year. “Bill” played a bang-up game, and he justly deserves this latter honor. He will have the whole school behind him next year.

WILLIAM GOLDSTROHM - - - - - GUARD

“Goldie” was not only a star for his own team this season, but was one of the best guards in the Tri-State league. His playing was fast and accurate, and his head-work helped win many a game for the Blue and White. He played hard from whistle to whistle, and was an inspiration to his team-mates. We will surely be glad to have him with us next year to back Cleary and his team.

JOHN HETRA - - - - - FORWARD

Hetra, better known as “Hlick”, or “Hlickory”, continued to prove himself worthy of the forward’s birth which he held last year. He played every minute of every game. Keeping up his last year’s record, “Hlick” has had the honor of being way up in the Tri-State scoring columns. His speed and accurate shooting have made him a valuable asset to the team. He has two more years in school, and we are confident that he will brilliantly fly the banner of “Old Westminster”.

CARL BISSETT - - - - - GUARD

Bissett, a former high school team-mate of Hetra's, showed his sterling worth when it came to basketball. "Cub" fought hard in practice at the beginning of the season, and played guard in a very commendable manner—so commendable, in fact, that during the latter half of the season he was given a regular position. It is a pleasure to watch his defensive work with an occasional long shot from the center of the floor. Here's good luck to him during his next three years!

HOWARD LOGAN - - - - - CENTER

"Biff" is just a Freshman this year. He came to us as a star from Edgewood, and first broke into the lineup as a forward, where he payed unusually well for a new man in a new position. He was later shifted to center, where his work was brilliant. Logan led his team in field goals this season. We are expecting great things from "Biff" in seasons to come.

Basketball Review

Prospects for basketball last season looked better than at any time, probably, since the fall of 1919. When Coach Dyer called for tryouts about thirty-five men reported, among whom were five lettermen.

Captain Randall was back for his fourth year on the squad and the center position was causing little worry. At forward Dyer had "Hickory" Hetra, an all class B forward from the previous year. The defense was even better fixed than the offense as far as seasoned material went. Cleary, last year's running guard, and Goldstrohm, who held the same position two years ago, were both out to make things miserable for opposing forwards. Along with these two was Bob Houston, who played stationary guard.

These five men formed the nucleus around which was to be formed Westminster's representative body on the floor. From the large group of men out for positions, Logan was picked to fill in as Hetra's running mate at forward. With this team Dyer met with fair success, but he wasn't satisfied. He realized that there was something lacking, and that he should be able to get more out of his team, even though it did go over to Grove City and outscore their machine in the last three quarters of play—a few lucky breaks gave them the early lead that won the game for them. Finally Dyer located his trouble—a seemingly unbalanced offense. He set about to find a remedy. More speed was needed, so Cleary was shifted from guard to forward. Logan was sent to center and Bissett injected into the lineup to fill Cleary's vacated guard position.

The new lineup looked like a world-beater, and it started out to prove itself such. Carnegie Tech didn't seem to know what it was all about as the Westminster team piled the score higher and higher; Allegheny was dazed the first few minutes and never came out of it until they hit the cold showers; the rest of the teams that met the new combination fared about the same. Westminster had a real team for the first time in several years—and all five men will be back next year!

BERNICE BROTHERS, Captain - - - - - FORWARD

Bernice, our captain and reliable forward, has just finished her third year of varsity basketball. Her first year she won her letter; last year her place on the team was secure; and this year as captain she had the loving support of every member on the squad. Her playing has always been dependable and praiseworthy. We look forward with pleasure to her fourth and last year with us.

JEROME WRIGHT - - - - - COACH

"Jerry" Wright, one of the greatest athletes Westminster has ever produced, was again the coach of the girls' varsity team. He was seriously handicapped by having an almost entirely new squad from which to develop the team. His one purpose was to develop a winning team, and to this end all his energies were directed. As a coach, he is a hard worker, square and efficient, and above all, he has the respect and admiration of the entire squad. It is with regret that we think of "Jerry's" graduation, for his departure will leave a vacancy that will be hard to fill.

CORNELLA GILKEY - - - - - MANAGER

As manager of the girls' basketball team, Cornella has been most competent. She was not appointed until late in the fall, and as a result was unable to schedule more than nine games, one of which was later canceled. No satisfactory dates could be arranged with Waynesburg this season, but we hope to have them included in our schedule for next year. In spite of all she had to contend with, she has managed the team and the schedule with extraordinary ability.

MARY, BEATTY, Captain-Elect - - - - - GUARD

Mary was one of the few players that held one position the entire season. She played guard with a perseverance and tenacity that were hard to overcome. She was always on the line, ready to catch the ball out of the opponents' hands and hurl it to our forwards. She proved a good team-mate to any of her various partners. This is Mary's first year on the varsity, and we are glad that she has two more years to look forward to, for players of her caliber are hard to find.

MARY SMITH - - - - - CENTER

Seldom do we find a girl who can play any position on a team, but Mary proved to be not only a center, but a forward and guard as well. She is a willing worker, and always ready to substitute in any position when directed by the coach. She is fast and efficient, and puts all that she has into each game. This is her first year with us, and great things are expected from her in the seasons immediately to come.

MARY GRAHAM - - - - - GUARD

Fast, dependable, and efficient are some of Mary's characteristics as a guard. At the beginning of the season we found her a candidate for the position of forward, but the coach ably assisted by Mr. Dyer changed her to the position of guard. Here she soon showed her ability to "stick" to her girl. She is a hard worker and always gave her best to the team. We are indeed sorry that this is her last year in Westminster.

LOIS LOGAN

FORWARD

This is Lois' fourth and last year on the team. This year she played a new position—that of forward. She proved her ability to play that position by scoring more points than any other player on the team. When Lois got her hands on the ball, it was sure to mean another basket for Westminster. In one game, she played her old position of guard, and again was an impassable barrier for the opponents' forwards. It is amost impossible to realize that Lois will not be with us next year. Both as a forward and as a guard she is almost incomparable, and to say that she will be missed is inadequate.

MARY McLAUGHRY

CENTER

Mary started the year as center on the team, but was unable to play for some time on account of sickness. However, her indomitable spirit brought her back to the squad, and she proved efficient in many an emergency, both as center and as guard. She was always at hand, ready to go into the fray with commendable pluck and sure knowledge of the game. It is with regret that we realize that this is Mary's last year at Westminster, for her graduation will leave a vacancy on the squad that will be difficult to fill.

RUTH HAMILTON

SIDE-CENTER

Early in the season, Ruth, by her careful and steady work, secured the position of side center on the first team. Her quickness was of inestimable value, especially in the Thiel game at Greenville. It was largely due to her efficient playing that we won this game. We are glad that she will be with us next year, for without her our team would be seriously handicapped.

Girls' Basketball Review

This season the girls' varsity team was seriously handicapped by the loss of three of last year's letter winners. Those who returned were Captain Bernice Brothers, Lois Logan and Mary McLaughry.

When Coach "Jerry" Wright announced the first practice, an encouraging number of girls turned out. Gradually the squad was cut until only eighteen of the entire number remained. When the team was chosen, we found Lois Logan filling a new position on the team—that of forward. Bernice Brothers played the other forward, Mary McLaughry was center, Ruth Hamilton side center, and Mary Beatty and Claire Wehmeier were guards. From the new material which remained on the squad, several creditable players were produced, among whom were Mary Smith and Claire Wehmeier.

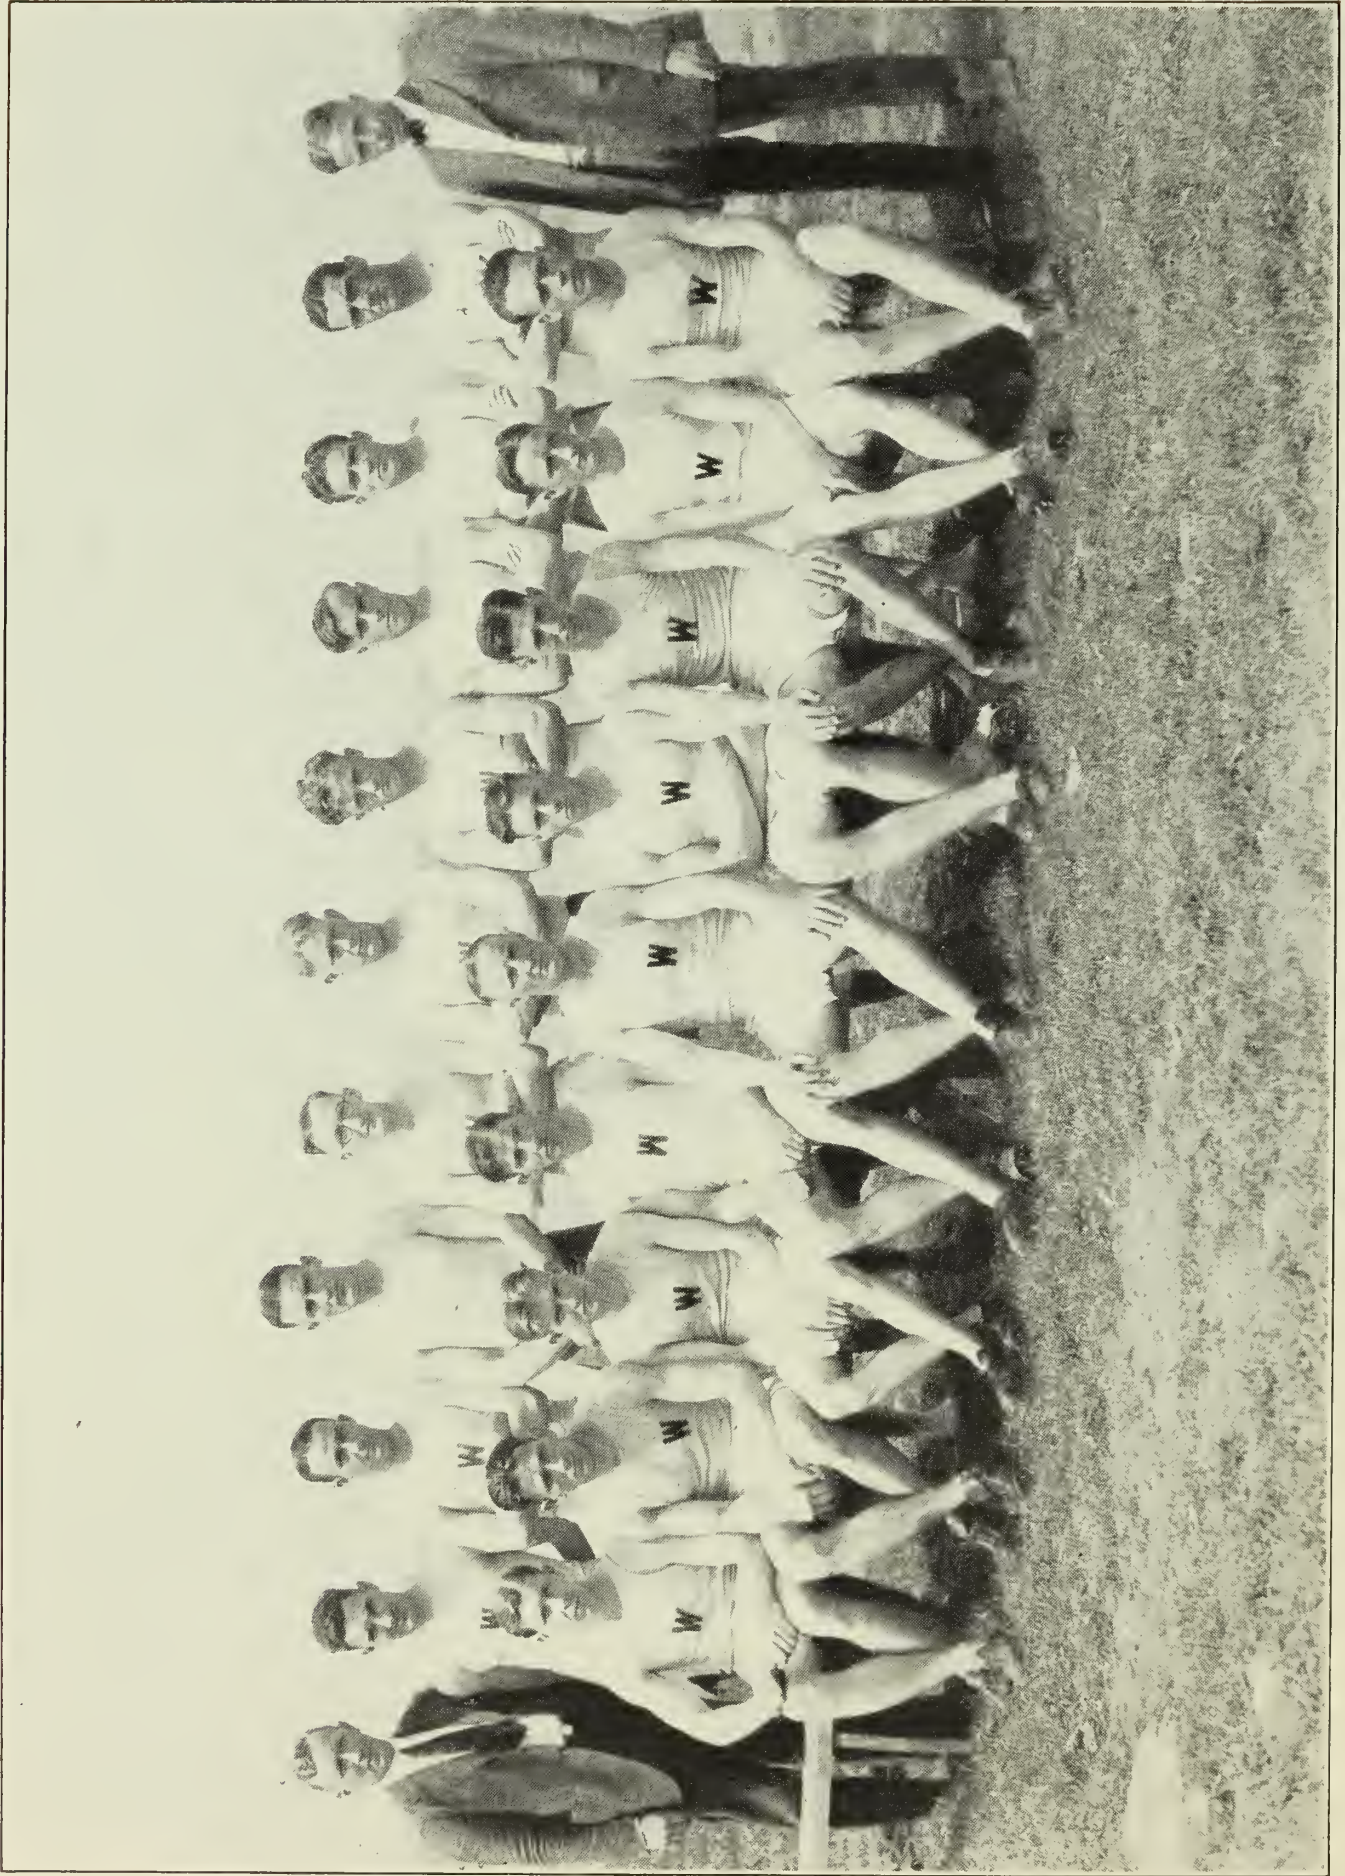

An attractive schedule was arranged by the manager, Cornella Gilkey, and the girls started the season by playing Geneva on the latter's floor. The outcome of this game was discouraging, for the score was 23-12 in Geneva's favor. However, this was not a forerunner of the other games of the season. The most successful game of the season was that played with Thiel, on Thiel's floor. The girls showed their real ability by winning by a 28-23 score. In the Thiel game at home, the score was tied. In the game with Geneva on our floor, the score was again tied. The last game of the season with the swift Slippery Rock team was another close game that nearly resulted in a tie, but after re-counting the score it was found that Slippery Rock had won by two points.

Although this season's team has experienced more defeats than any previous team for some years, the efforts of the coach and captain and squad never slackened, and the whole team played to the best of their ability. Throughout the season, the team maintained the interest and cooperation of the student body.

In spite of the fact that the report of the games played this year is discouraging, we are looking forward to a brighter and more successful season next year. Four of this year's letter winners will be back—Bernice Brothers, Ruth Hamilton, Mary Beatty, and Mary Smith—and great things are expected of them.

JEROME WRIGHT

Captain

"Jerry" was track captain for 1923, which made his second year of participation in this sport. Besides winning the all-around championship, "Jerry" sets a new college record in the pole vault. His work is not confined to any one event, as he is an able performer with the discus, shot, hammer, and in the high jump, as well as the pole vault. "Jerry" was one of the leading scorers of the year, and an important factor in the track squad.

DAN McQUISTON

Coach

Dan is a Westminster graduate, having been quite an athlete here at one time. He was a member of Westminster's last enviable football team. "Coach" came here in the fall of 1922 to assume the responsibility of football coach. He also took over our track team last spring. Track was going through a period of re-birth at Westminster and Dan sure did a lot to get the sport on its feet again.

RUSSELL WELLER

Student Manager

Weller was our manager in the past spring, and filled the office in a capable, efficient manner. Any balmy afternoon, and very often the morning, would find "Russ" busily engaged in laying down chalk lines, digging jumping pits, massaging sore muscles, or doing any one of the hundred and one things necessary for the well-being of the track team. To Weller is due, in a great measure, the smoothness and dispatch with which various events were handled.

FRANK BLACK

Frank Black, better known as "Blackie", was the same dependable track man as he was in football, where he held down a birth and captured the "W". "Blackie" is a hurdler and against Thiel brought home the bacon. "Blackie" is a Crescent and this is his last year at "Old Westminster". Watch him this year, he is going to do much for his Alma Mater.

WILLIAM CLEARY

The track team was fortunate in having Cleary as one of its members last year. "Bill's" specialty lay in the sprints, where he was hard to beat. He is a regular artist in running the 220 low hurdles. His speed and good form enabled him to win this particular event from "Skinny" Hamilton, the highly touted Geneva flash. Incidentally, he set a new college record in this race. Winning his letter in track made the fourth letter for "Bill" in the one year, a record of which he may be justly proud.

CLARENCE EDDY

Clarence Eddy, more popularly known as just plain "Eddie," earned his "W" in track. His fleetness earned for him the coveted "W". In the 220' against Thiel "Eddie" blossomed forth and captured the first place. We are glad to have Eddy back with us this year and his training in the intramural league basketball, where he played a fast and quick game, will come in handy for the track team. Come on, Eddy, we're watching you.

JOHN HUNTER

Hunter was the surprise of the track team when he ran the 100 yard dash in $9 \frac{4}{5}$ seconds. A record run for "Old Westminster". John was also a bear in the broad jump. John, we were also glad to note, was a comer for the football squad, but on account of injuries was forced to drop out. He is in his last year at school and we are expecting him to shine in the coming track season under the new athletic regime.

CLARENCE RANDALL

Captain-Elect

1923 was "Randy's" first year as a member of the track team, but in this, as in three other sports, he acquitted himself well. Before the regular collegiate track season was under way, Randall brought himself into public recognition in this particular sport by winning the Westminster pentathlon. During the season, "Randy" was one of the main point-getters for the team. He was best in the javelin, high jump, and high hurdles. He set the college records for the first two. Randall is captain-elect for 1924.

JAMES WILSON

Wilson came to us from New Castle, where he had been manager of his high school track team. However, he decided to participate in this sport to a more extensive degree at Westminster. As a result, he developed into a good long distance runner. "Jimmy" was our main-stay in the mile and two mile races, winning both of them in the meet with Thiel. "Jim" has three more years to compete for our school. We hope to hear more from him in the future.

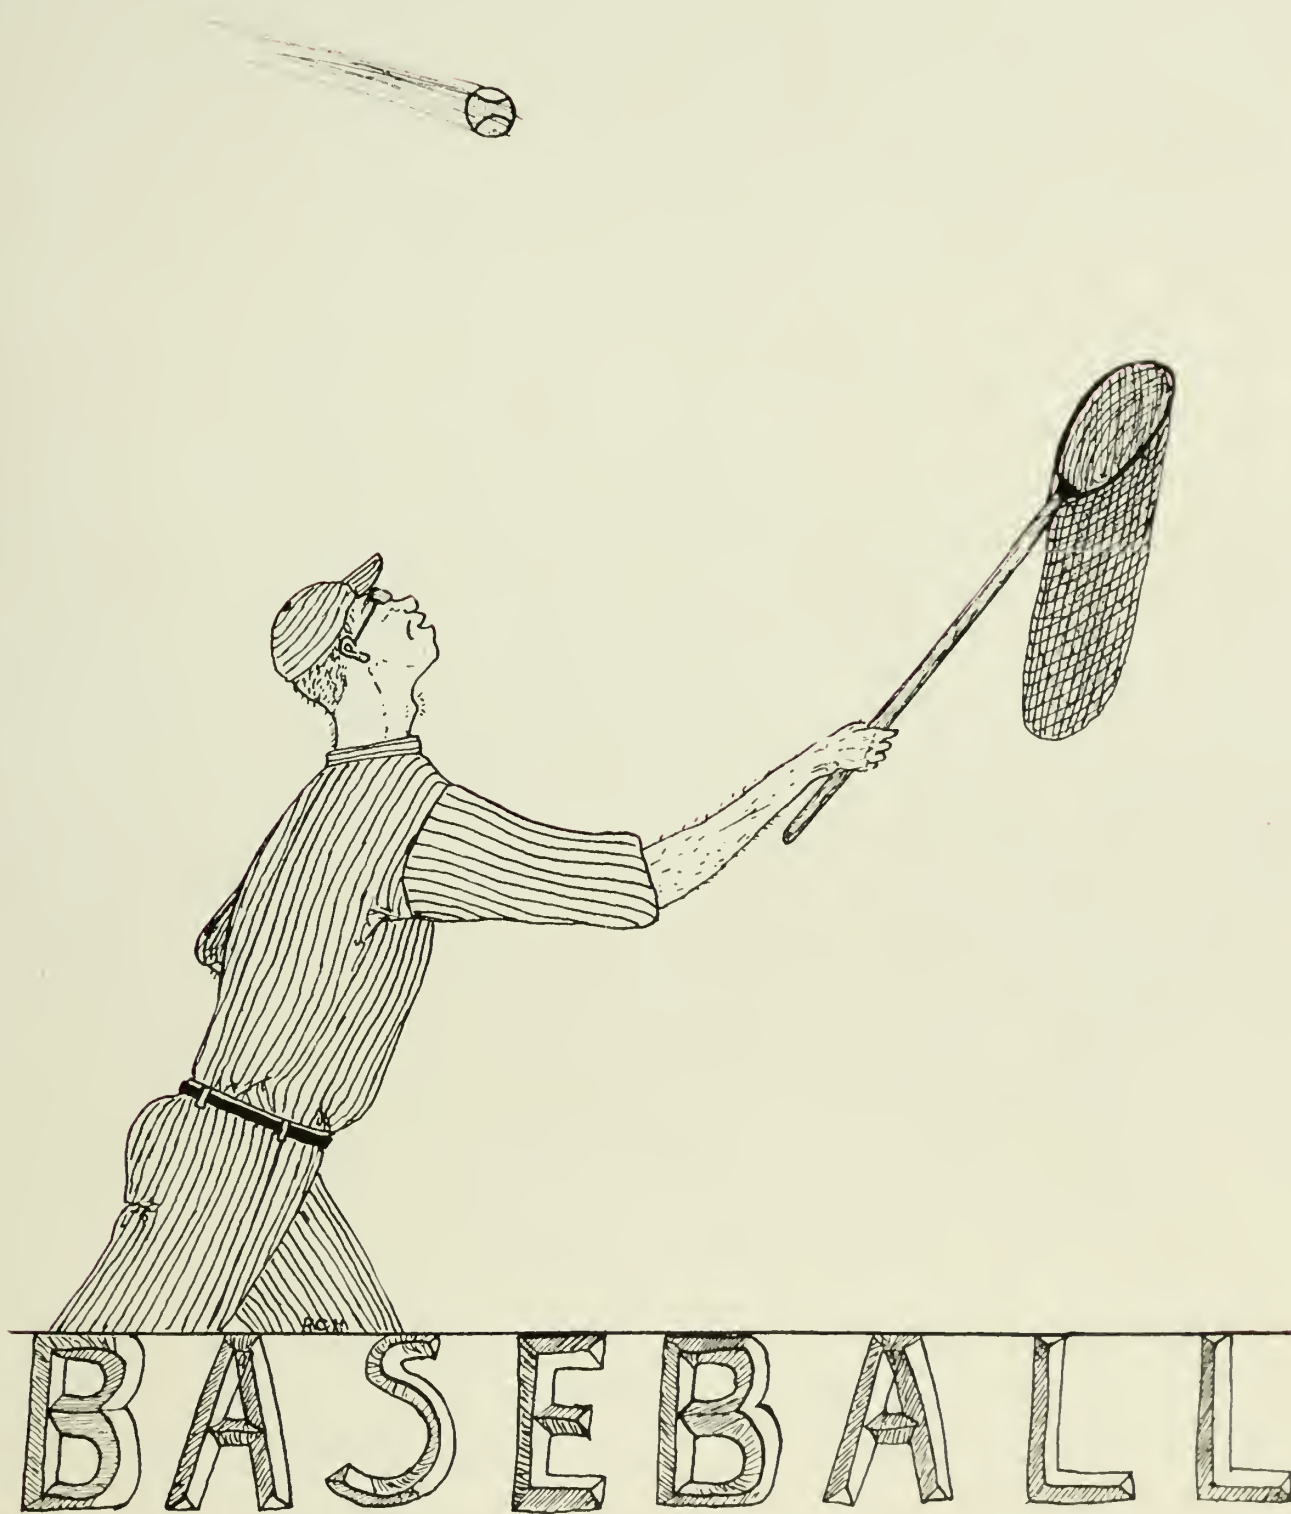

'23 Track Review

Last season was the first time that Westminster has really backed a track team in several years. The sport was abandoned during the war and immediately following there was not sufficient interest in it to warrant the support of a team. Two years ago, however, the sport seemed to revive sufficiently to place a team on the field so the college authorities backed the movement. Last year track got under way in earnest and three meets were scheduled. The first, with Thiel, was held at home and proved a walk-away for Westminster, Thiel getting only 13 points while McQuiston's speeders collected 98. The next meet, at Geneva, was not so favorable for Westminster, yet it was a better meet in that it was much more closely contested, Geneva winning by some twenty points. The final meet was held at Pitt on June 3. It was Pitt's Annual Intercollegiate Track and Field Meet, in which Penn State, W. and J., Carnegie Tech, Bethany, Geneva, Pitt, and Westminster were entered. Here Westminster made the outside world sit up and take notice by cleaning up two firsts, quite a feat with the comparatively small squad we had entered in the meet. But it showed what Westminster could do with a small group, so now she is out to take over any who might cross her path.

An unusually large track squad is out now and a lot of promising material has shown up. Especially in the mile event does the new squad look strong with the addition of two Freshmen, both of whom do the mile in not a few seconds less than it was done in any of our last year's meets. These along with some new sprint men should aid materially the talent already in school. Captain Randall and ex-Captain Wright are out for their last team at Westminster and are determined to leave a lasting impression, as are also Hunter, Black, and Eddy, who will end their athletic days at Westminster on the track team this spring. Coach Dyer is also anxious to see a better track team put into collegiate competition by Westminster and is doing everything to get the men into winning form. It is certain Westminster need not be ashamed when the curtain rings down on the track events this summer.

NORMAN HOELZLE, Captain - - - - - FIELDER

"Norm" has played ball for Westminster three seasons and piloted the team through last season. He is quiet but very active and thrilled the crowds many times by his hair raising catches in his middle field position. We all regret the loss of "Norm" as he represented the true Westminster spirit.

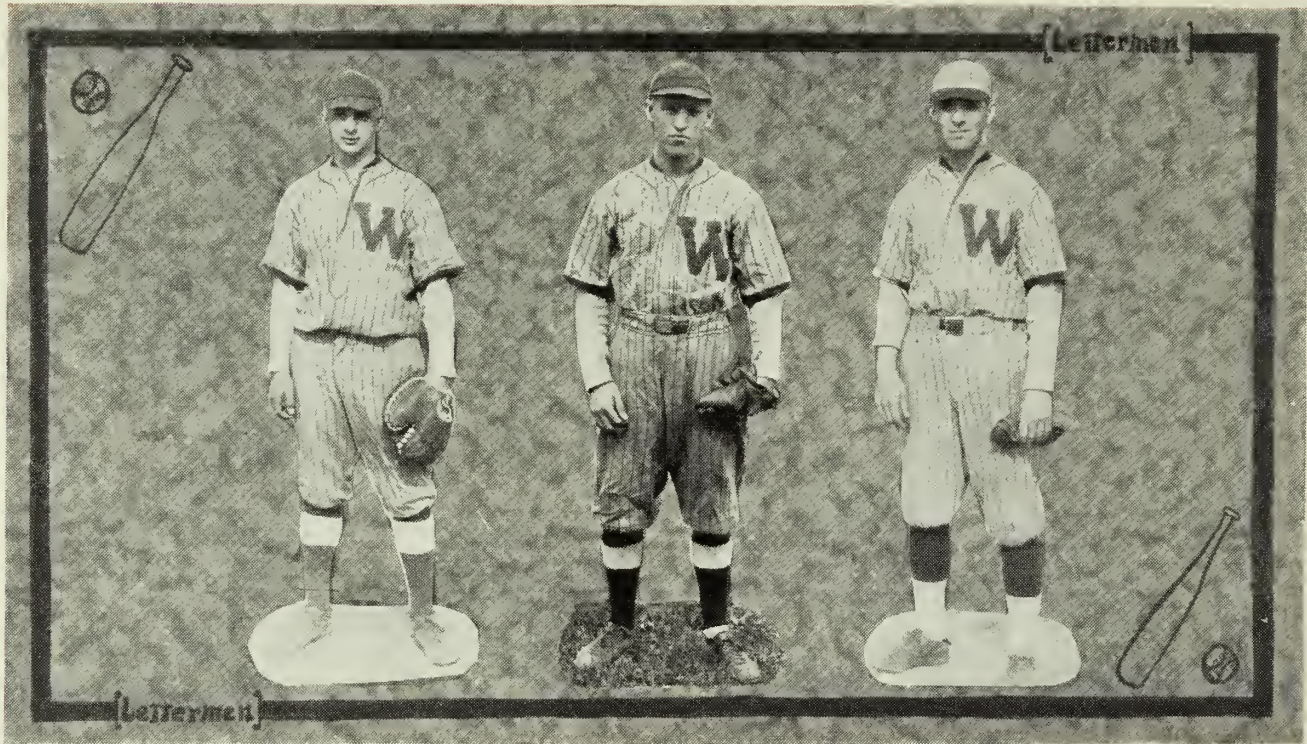

WAYLAND LENOX - - - - - COACH

"Suds" played baseball his first two years in school. He received a bad injury which disabled him to play last year but was appointed coach by the Athletic Council and served last year in that capacity. "Suds" knows the game and greatly aided the squad in their season. He is full of pep and Westminster spirit. This added to his qualities of leadership enabled him to fill his job in a commendable manner.

MYRON McCUNE - - - - - STUDENT MANAGER

Myron is a representative of the home talent, having been a resident of New Wilmington all his life. He never has caused much known trouble around the campus, his lessons seemingly requiring most of his time. "Cooney" is quite a chemist and when not out with the baseball team can usually be found among the "spirits." Not a bad combination either as there is more science in baseball than in any other sport.

LOYAL BROWN - - - - - CATCHER

“The man masked behind the bat.”
 No one knew that Brown could play ball until one day they got him behind the bat, and now he has usurped that position with certainty and with a more promising ability in becoming a mainstay and in being numbered among the best.

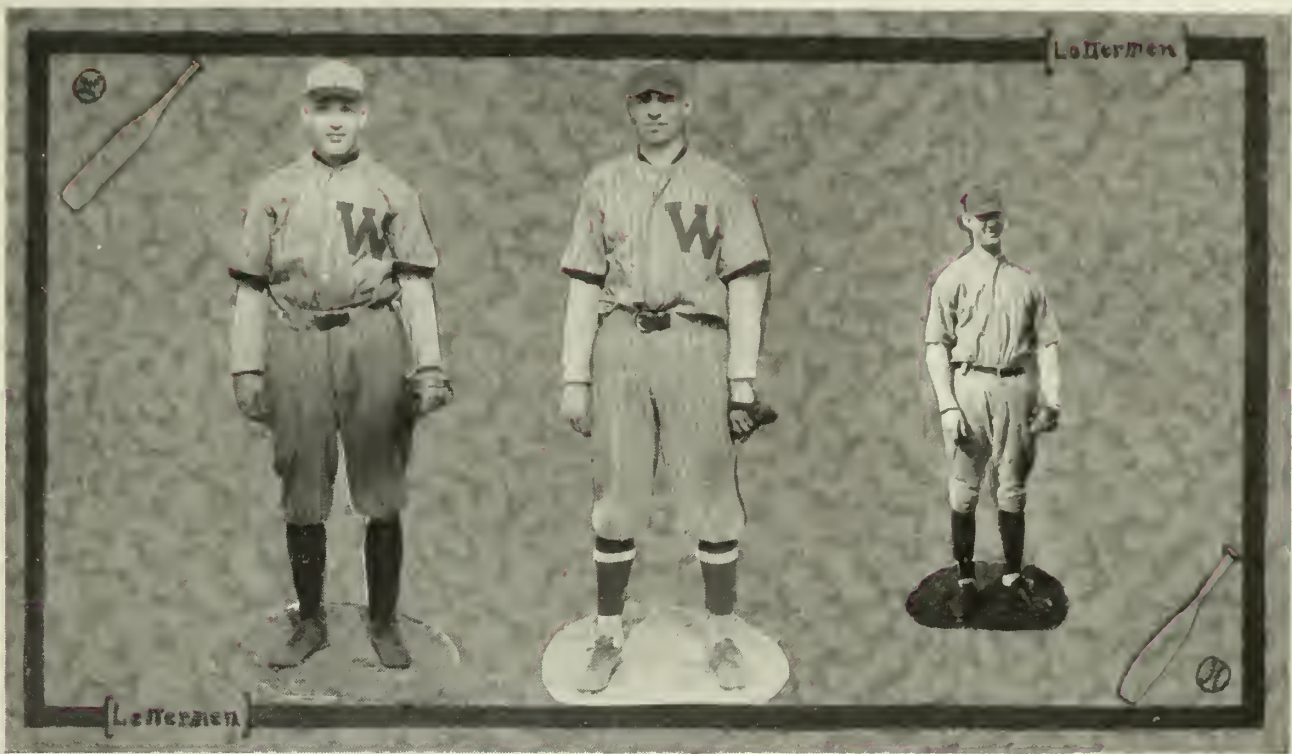

RAYBURN CAMPBELL - - - - - UTILITY MAN

Few were the aspirants who could fill “Fluky’s” position. Small as he was, he could play any position on the team—in short he was the exponent of teamwork and co-operation. Not only could he pitch well but he could also hit a pitched ball with the willow. Although he could replace any position on the diamond his general disposition was for the infield.

WILLIAM CLEARY - - - - - PITCHER

This was Cleary’s first trial at baseball, but he delivered the goods in no uncertain manner. As a slab artist, “Bill” ranked high and could be depended upon to do his share. When not pitching, he chased around the outfield. Cleary’s hard hitting and clever base running were big assets to the team. Whatever the score, he could always be depended upon to play his best.

ROBERT DICKSON

- - - - -

SHORTSTOP

Although not very big in stature, “Bob” proved that he could cover the infield very well. It made no difference whether a ball came to him fast or slow. His fast fielding and straight throwing were a menace to any opponent. Always working hard and encouraging his team-mates, “Bob” was a great help to the team.

DAVID FAWCETT

- - - - -

THIRD BASE

“Dave” also graduated last year and left a vacancy around third base. He played a good ball in the field and showed exceptional ability at the bat. He played the game hard and fast, displaying all the characteristics of a Westminster athlete.

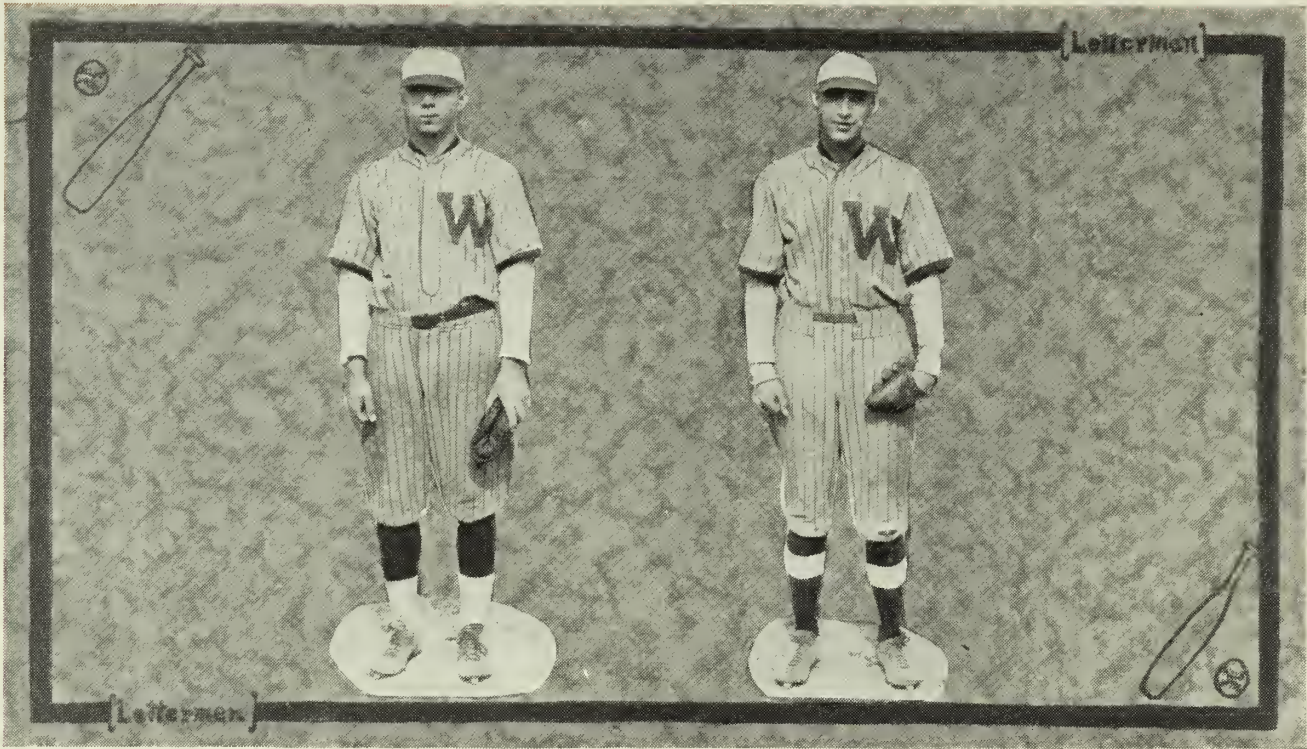

LYLE GUTHRIE

PITCHER

“Honey” was a very valuable asset to the team last season as he held down two jobs most of the season. As a pitcher he proved his ability a great many times during the season. When not at work on the mound he played in the outfield where he shone with equal brightness.

JOHN HETRA - - - - - FIRST BASE

Westminster is proud of this young man. Not only is he a basketball player of the first caliber but he has also shown his ability with the glove at first base. "Hickory", as he is generally known, is here, there, and elsewhere, but always ready for business. If you have seen him play you have noticed his quickness and dependability. He is one of those players that make their hands and head work simultaneously. Upon the run, he is as fleetly as the Marathon racer.

JAMES POLLOCK - - - - - THIRD BASE

Pollock was the mainstay at third base. His watchful and intent look made him a player of unusual ability and fitness for holding down that position. His graduation left a gap for that infield place where readiness and stability are necessary. Few were the whizzing grounders that missed his clenching fingers. His intent watchfulness in following the ball with his eyes made him a consistent batter.

1923 Baseball Review

The national sport was greatly handicapped at the offset this year through the lack of a coach. Apparently the man they had counted upon failed to report and it was then too late to secure another one. Athletic Director Dan McQuiston, although coaching the track team at this time, undertook to get the team functioning, but owing to the fact that both teams required his services at the same time was compelled to give up baseball.

This time "Suds" Lenox was signed to coach. He worked hard with the boys and gave them his untiring efforts. The team was behind "Suds" but a number of games were lost, usually by a close margin.

To add to our sorrows, J. Pluvius habitually got out of bed on the wrong side on days of scheduled games and the team had to play under adverse conditions or remain idle many times. Taking things on a whole it was certainly a year of hard luck for Westminster in baseball. Yet the fellows stuck with it to the end and gave their every effort that no man might say a Westminster team has ever quit, no matter how the breaks were going.

This year the fellows are out for blood and are determined to make up for time lost last year. Mays Edmundson, one of the best ball players that ever played for our school, has agreed to give up his law practice long enough to come back and coach. He knows the game and the fellows know and like him. "Skimmer" Davis is acting as assistant coach. He is already on the field and sending his men through stiff practice sessions. A large squad is out and there is hot competition for varsity berths. At this stage of the season the chances for a successful season look greatly improved over last year.

Inter-Class Football

The big field south of the gym was the scene of the battle of the ages on Friday afternoon, Nov. 9. It was there and then that eleven padded warriors took their places to avenge the defeat handed to them in the flag rush at the hands of the class of '24, while another eleven similarly clad assembled to uphold the old tradition that never shall a Freshman class conquer the mighty Sophomores on the gridiron. For several years back, the second year men had annually defeated the 'wearers of the green' upon the football field. But as all things must at some time end, so 'the old order changeth' and the Sophomores were defeated. The Freshmen left the field with a 7-0 victory safely tucked away and the sting of their defeat in the flag rush wiped out.

The game was played upon a somewhat soggy field which gave the heavier backs of the Freshman team a slight advantage in their line bucking which was the main factor in their offense, and ultimately the cause of their victory. The field, though wet, did not cause a slow game and fumbles were unheard of. The two quarterbacks ran their teams well most of the time. However a forward pass by the Sophomores on their twenty yard line was intercepted which spoiled their last desperate attempt to score. So to Capt. "Andy" Harmody goes the honor of having the best team and bringing home the victory.

Intra-Mural Basketball

The Intra-Mural Basketball League was opened on Saturday night, Jan. 12, when the Kaps played the Lolos in the preliminary to the Varsity-Miller Dramatic game. The Kaps won and kept right up at the front until the league closed when they were nosed out of first place by the Crescents, who defeated them in both the scheduled games.

The league opened with five teams entered, each of the four organizations on the campus being represented along with a fifth team made up of national fraternity men playing under the name of the Lolos. This team, however, was broken up when McKissock was switched to the varsity squad and Lavan left school at the end of the first semester. The remainder of the games on their schedule were forfeited.

All the teams started off with a determination to win and kept it down to the final whistle. The games, without exception, were hotly contested with some real basketball being shown throughout. Even the last place Delts were a menace to any of the rest, losing three of its games by a one point margin and a fourth by two points in an extra period.

The league was indeed successful from every standpoint. Good crowds were out at every game and a keen interest was shown in the loop. In addition it gave some fifty or sixty men a chance to take part in competitive athletics while without the league they would not have had the chance.

At the close of the season the Freshmen challenged the Sophomores to a three game series. The Sophs got the jump by winning the first game but the score was evened when they lost the second. The third game was fast and furious until the final whistle blew, proclaiming the second year men victors.

Intra-Mural Baseball

A new variety of non-varsity sport was inaugurated last year through the efforts of the Intra-Mural Council. This organization realized that there was a lot of lost talent along baseball lines around school and decided to dig it up. At least the material was dormant and the Council decided to take the responsibility of being the alarm clock which would cause the awakening of interest. The Intra-Mural Baseball League resulted and a schedule was drawn up. The four organizations on the campus entered teams and started out from the first to get a hold upon the championship.

The first game of the season resulted in a 3-2 victory for the Crescents over the Delts. Both teams displayed a fast brand of baseball. The games that followed were of the type of the opener and the league soon attracted many fans to witness the combats. The games were close, and the interest was increasing with each one until the end of the season.

The Kaps won the league. They finished the season with a clean slate, winning every game of their schedule. The other three teams ended in a triple tie for second place.

Aside from giving a bunch of fellows a chance to play a little baseball the league served to give a little seasoning to some who may become varsity material this year, whereas they would have remained idle and secured no training last spring.

But apparently the fellows weren't satisfied with their twelve Intra-Mural games so the under classes staged a little contest May Day morning. The game proved to be a slug fest with the Sophomores on the big end. However, they only beat the Freshmen by a small margin and a good time was had by all.

Non-Varsity Track

Although Westminster has not put the world on fire with her recent track teams, please do not be of the opinion that she has been idle in this spring sport during the past few years. More pep was shown in track last year than has been seen in many moons, mainly due to the several non-varsity track and field meets that were held. Through the efforts of Coach McQuiston, the Intra-Mural League, and Track Captain Wright, three meets were held in a very successful manner. Not only did the various competitions boost the sport, but they gave the coach a good means of looking over the ability of his material.

The Intra-Mural indoor track meet was held near the first of March in the gym. A final tally of points gave the first place to the Crescents, the second to the Kaps, the third to the Delts, and the cellar position to the Pi's. The leading point-getters were Captain Wright and Captain-Elect Randall.

The outdoor meet was such a success that an all-round competition and a pentathlon were held. "Jerry" Wright proved his supremacy in the all-round competition, while Randall won the pentathlon. Medals were given to these winners. This individual competition also aided in placing track in the lime-light.

The most interesting meet was the Inter-Class meet on College Field on the afternoon of May 5. The Junior Class proved to own a galaxy of stars and came out on top with 87 points. The Sophomores came second with 34, while the Freshmen garnered 21. The Juniors won the two cups at stake; one for the highest score and one for the winning relay team. Wright, Randall, and Cleary won medals for high individual scoring. Wright had 29 points, Randall 22, and Cleary 16. The Junior relay team was composed of Hunter, Eddie, Black, and Campbell.

Thou lowly spirogira of antediluvian pusillanimity: most decadent descendants of arboreal monichio, whelped in the dark of the moon; thou merdivorous acalyptates of the livery stable: instill within thyself a most humble fear of the Armstrong Paddlers, The N. W. Water Club, and the K. K. Tonsorial Artists!

1. Remember that custom bars all insignia of other schools upon the campus.

2. Learn all college yells, attend all mass meetings, and whenever possible offer your services to any athletic team.

3. In appreciation of the honor of commingling with the great and worthy Sophomores it shall be your privilege to carry all packages or books that they may have and in any other requested way make your awe known to them.

4. On Friday of next week appear at 12:20 on the South steps of Old Main, en masse, prepared to recite nursery rhymes. The program shall conclude with the rendition of that touching lyric entitled, "How Green I Am" (to the tune of "How Dry I Am") by the entire class. Afterward each male shall escort his counterpart to the Hillside.

5. For two weeks after the "Who's Who" no green male or female shall indulge in any form of co-education. Beware, co-education means three feet to the rear and no mumbling.

6. From next Saturday a copy of these rules shall be acquired from designated persons in consideration for which 15 pesos shall be deposited in their safe keeping.

TO YOU CUBICULARII

7. Always shall you assume a quiet, modest air; wearing only black ties and socks until after the last football game.

8. Immediately after chapel on the first wet day you shall hasten to leave bare footprints on the pavements of the triangle. This route shall be circumnavigated at least twice.

9. On Friday of next week each lowly greenhorn shall bedeck himself with bloomers, green ties, and middies acquired from his greenie. If said greenie does not exist burlap sacks will be found most convenient.

10. Never be without a lucifer to light some Superior's fag.

11. On Wednesday of next week in order to show your willingness to labor and thus your right to a future place in our midst carry a brick or an equal weight of stone wherever your wandering footsteps may lead you.

TO YOU CUBICULARIAE

12. On Thursday of next week all anthrope vulgaris shall appear adorned in a necklace of safety pins worn conspicuously, and consisting of at least four dozen safety pins. Likewise on Thursday shall no fresh woman be seen walking on streets or sidewalks but they shall modestly and discreetly betake themselves to curbstones, whereupon they shall maintain the most ladylike equilibrium; furthermore shall they keep off the front campus, using only the side and rear doors of Old Main. This rule holds from sunrise to sunset.

13. Each fresh woman shall freely and spontaneously volunteer to make the bed of one of her worthy Superiors, the Sophomores, beginning Wednesday and lasting for one week.

14. On Friday of next week all fresh women shall appear from sunrise until sunset in a greenhorn's vest, light stockings, dark oxfords or slippers laced with green, and skirts wrong side out: All bobbed hair girls shall confine their locks in a hair net and all those whose tresses are not shorn shall wear same in becoming pigtales, three in number, tied with green.

15. On Wednesday of next week all fresh women shall wear hats becomingly draped with veils, said veils to consist of a towel; and they salute all Sophomore fellows with a wash cloth which they shall wave violently with their right hand.

BERNICE BROTHERS

The Junior Class offers another Argo to its friends. This book is published with the hope that it might serve as a book of memories to all Westminster friends and especially to those of the class of '25.

In the Argo an attempt is made to portray the true life at Westminster. The laughter that the years have caused is intermingled with the tears that have been shed. The good times that all have enjoyed are shown, but beneath all these we can see an underlying current of serious toil and earnest hope.

No effort has been made to show things in a loftier or gentlier light than they have been in the life lived here. No effort to surpass other classes has been made. Still it is with quiet confidence that we tell of the class of '25, resting assured that with the softening influence of time any mistakes that have been made will be fully forgiven and any merit we possess will be amply recognized.

It is with the above thoughts that the class has worked at this book, one of the monuments which it leaves behind it. We sincerely hope that it will serve its ideal of being a memory book to all who may possess it.

Evangelistic Services Began Last Night

The special services of the College began in the Chapel last evening at seven o'clock and will continue throughout the week with the exception of Saturday. The preacher for the week was to have been Dr. A. H. Haldinger, pastor of the Second U. P. Church of Butler, but due to an illness contracted recently he found it unable to be present with the students and Faculty of his Alma Mater.

Dr. Haldinger, however, was very instrumental in securing for us as the minister of the week Dr. S. C. Gamble, his fellow-townsmen, pastor of the First U. P. Church, and an alumnus of Westminster, graduating from here in the class of '01. We are sorry to lose the services of Dr. Haldinger but we are extremely fortunate in securing as his substitute a preacher of no less ability. It will be remembered by the upper classmen that Dr. Haldinger contracted the "flu" while conducting the services here last year and that he was forced to return home. We wish for him a speedy recovery.

Dr. Gamble will preach tonight, and on Wednesday and Thursday evenings at the same hour (7 o'clock). He will also bring the messages in the morning Chapel Assembly at 11 o'clock each morning and in the exercises on Washington's birthday and the Sabbath morning services in the U. P. Church of New Wilmington.

These services can be made a great help and influence on Westminster campus if each one performs his duty and prays for their success. Remember too, the words of our President on Sabbath night so that none of us be guilty of the folly of delaying in our spiritual decisions.

DR. WALLACE PREACHES ON PROCASTINATION

One of the finest chapel services of the year was held Sabbath evening in the College Chapel. Dr. Wallace chose Acts 17:32 for the text in Paul's famous speech on Mars Hill before the intellectual giants of Athens. The last part of the verse in particular furnished the basis for Dr. Wallace's sermon. "We will hear you again on this matter." The Athenians said and perhaps they came again to Mars Hill but the great teacher was gone. This famous text furnished a foundation for a powerful sermon on Spiritual Procastination.

Three fundamental characteristics Dr. Wallace distinguished in this great evil. These may be named simply as Pretense, Presumption, and Perniciousness. Each is an evil in its effect upon the individual and a study of each makes clear the folly of procastination.

The pretense of procastination is perhaps the first and least of the three evils named. It is merely the alibi of a lie to cover a reality. It is postponement of moral decision. It is an attempt to send the tormenter Conscience away. Perhaps pleasure stands in the way and encourages pretense but in any case there is a delusion that age is time enough to make decisions.

Presumption is self-assertion carried too far. What could be greater presumption than to declare that we may take our own time in making a decision. Statistics show that one half of the population of this world perishes before it reaches seven years, one half before seventeen, and that but one in a hundred live to be sixty years of age. Men may come back but the teacher will be gone.

The last evil is worse than the other two. The first two are bound to be injurious but the last is apt to be destructive. The greatest evil in procastination is that it is liable to render a man incompetent to make a decision. It debases conscience. It disempowers man's will and half-melted hearts frozen again are harder than ever before. Here are the evils and the perniciousness of procastination.

Dr. Wallace closed his sermon with the plea that his hearers be wise today since time is passing away, and a prayer that God may set men free from the deceit of sin. The splendid anthem rendered by the College Chorus is worthy of commendation as was Mr. Riep's solo with which the service was concluded.

WASHINGTON'S BIRTHDAY BRINGS A HOLIDAY

The celebration of the birth of "The Father of Our Country" will be celebrated on Friday by the student body and Faculty of the College in an appropriate way. There will be a special service in the Chapel assembly at eleven o'clock.

"Mother's Day" in the College will be informally instituted on the same day, at which time a number of the mothers of students will be entertained in the dorms, clubs, and frats. The plan was begun last year by one of the frats, and the plan is to make it an annual collegiate affair. The fraternities will hold "Open House" while the dorms will be entertaining with teas.

MOTHERS OF FRATRY TO MEET ON FRIDAY

The semi-annual meeting of the Mother's Club of the Phi Kappa Fraternity will be held in the fraternity house in the afternoon of Friday the 22nd. The mothers personally survey the house and take stock of the needs of the sons and the attempt is made later to supply the needs. These efforts have not been in vain since the first meeting of last year, for the House has been supplied well with a number of necessities and luxuries. These meetings have been excellent works in bringing a spirit of co-operation and fellowship between the members of both the Club and the Fraternity.

Y. W. C. A.

After Forrest, our delegate to the Industrial Conference at Camp Nepequin was the leader of a very interesting discussion meeting of the Y. W. C. A. Wednesday evening. The subject discussed were the problems which the "Industrial Girl" must face and how the college girl can help her solve them. Many interesting examples were given to show how they need our help and the help of the Y. W. C. A.

An additional attraction was a piano solo rendered by Miss Margaret Fraser. The increase in attendance was probably due to the invitations issued in the form of valentines. A class contest has been planned for the purpose of making this increase in attendance permanent.

HUTTON IRA JONES LECTURES ON SCIENCE

On Friday night last, Dr. H. I. Jones lectured to an audience of townspeople and college students. The auditorium was not as full as it should have been. Those who played away should be pitying themselves a great deal, because they missed one of the best numbers on the lecture course this year.

The whole audience enjoyed the lecture, but it appealed to the educators in particular. They enjoyed it most of all, especially the places where all the lights were turned off in order that the electrical demonstrations might be more effective. The lecturer very thoughtfully gave warning each time before the lights were turned on. Dr. Jones made an offer to bald-headed men, but no one seemed to care to take the opportunity.

Dr. Jones's lecture was centered around the one great theory which is slowly emerging from modern research work. This is the theory, that in the world we know, there is but one force, one matter, and one law. This is the conception to which the alchemists of old were looking when they labored years and years to find the Philosopher's Stone, a material by which baser metals might be changed to gold. With this theory there is no possibility of any war between science and religion. All truth is in absolute harmony and the scientist is working as surely to prove the existence of a Supreme Being as is the theologian.

Dr. Jones was not only instructive but interesting and amusing. His wide variety of subjects kept every one "rattled." He spoke of everything from love at first sight to the putting out of fire by sound. Though we may not agree with him on the first, we can not disagree on the last because he demonstrated it in a convincing way. The lecture was the kind to rouse ambitions and dreams for the future in the minds of the youngsters, and send the older ones of the audience home wondering when some one will discover the way to remove the eyes from potatoes without making them blind. It is reported that a couple of frosh went home and tried unsuccessfully to yell the lights on. However, these were only rumors.

We found Dr. Jones's lecture very much worth attending and wish him all success and joy in his unselfish efforts to popularize scientific knowledge.

WESTMINSTER FIVE HAVE BUSY WEEK

The rejuvenated Blue and White basketball aggregation will have a real test to face during the coming week. Three engagements grace the boards for the coming week, two of which are scheduled for foreign territory. On Wednesday evening the Dyerites will be the opponents of the Waynesburg Yellowjackets. Our boys defeated the Waynesburgers by one point in an extra-period till on the home floor; so real opposition is expected from the hosts who are out for a taste of sweet revenge.

Following this engagement, the Westminster team will face the Tech five in Tech's new gym on Thursday evening. Tech has defeated some of the best teams of the district and is now, after a poor start going at full speed.

The team will be allotted a day's rest following this fracas and will then meet the Allegheny team on the home floor. Allegheny emerged victor in the last battle, and since that time have defeated Hob Thoro's Grove City passers. This feat is indeed an enviable one and to conquer the conquerors is the ambition of Coach Dyer and his squad.

Rejuvenated Varsity Tops Geneva 33-22

Celebrating their come back with a victory that savored of sweet revenge, Coach Dyer's shaken up line-up treated the Geneva basketballers to a beautiful trouncing 33-22. Dyer surprised the spectators and students by presenting a lineup that showed Cleary at forward, Hisselt at Cleary's old guard post, and Hiff Logan at center. This lineup looks the best of any trotted out this year. Hetra and Goldie remained at their respective posts and worked well with their new partners.

Speed was the by word of the new combination and they exhibited plenty of it thru out the game. During the first half the team had difficulty in passing and shooting accurately. Their play, the fast, was, at times, sloppy and their marksmanship, which reached perfection during the second period, was heart-breaking in the opening stanza. Consequently the Genevans held a 13-11 advantage at the end of the half.

The second half was fast and furious. The Dyerites had overcome their first period difficulties and worked smoothly and to advantage. Hisselt crashed thru with two beautiful long shots and Hiff Logan helped himself to four double-dunks during the final period. The Geneva defense was puzzled by the Blue and White offense; so much so that time after time Logan was loose.

WESTMINSTER FIVE BOWS TO ALLEGHENY QUINT

Last Monday evening the Westminster team's journeyed to Meadville where they met defeat at the hands of the Methodists. It was quite a thrilling contest until the last few minutes when the protégés of Coach Baker forged ahead and held their lead until the final whistle.

The local aggregation invaded the enemy's city under cover of darkness. The lights had decided to take a few hours rest, and rest they did, despite the efforts of the city's talented electricians. Before this event took place the Allegheny gym was crowded with swarms and their fair companions who, according to the testimony presented by unattached victims of the sudden fall of unexpected darkness, enjoyed the situation immensely. Evidently, however, all this was spoiled by the sudden dawn of light, which event it is rumored has had considerable influence upon the opinions of the more austere persons connected with the college concerning certain erstwhile popular students.

The lights brought not only embarrassment but a battle royal as well. The Bakerites went into the fray like a determined whirlwind. They were met by Dyer's cohorts with a just as determined, stubborn resistance. The ball saw-sawed back and forth, up and down with neither side having any apparent advantage. Both sides scored from the field and from the foul line consistently; sensational tosses from the corners and the hack court contributing to the general excitement of the fray. At the end of the half the Methodists led by a single point.

Between halves the freshmen performed snake dances and leap-frog tactics for the entertainment of the spectators. Their antics were very amusing and entertaining. Such a mild game diversion would be welcome in Westminster.

The second half found Snyder replacing McMeekin. Coach Baker must have talked turkey to the Alleghenians, for they opened a wonderful offense and clinched the game by a six point spur in the closing minutes.

under the basket as were Cleary and Hetra.

The game became so fast and furious that the official had to warn the players to keep cool and play basketball. As a last resort Coach MacCarter injected Sidney Hamilton, his dark horse into the game. Goldie proceeded to show his rival the correct and proper manner in which the game of basketball should be played. His ever present smile as he shot fouls, and laughed at the offenders, riled the little Hamilton to the point of combat. This, however, was averted by the time when he, which announced a Blue and White victory 33-22.

Coach Dyer seems at last to have found his best combination and we are looking for big things from this new five in the coming engagements.

The lineup—
Westminster 33 Geneva 22
Hetra 1 Schupe
Cleary 1 F Hisseltz
Logan 6 C Clark
Goldstrohm 6 G Hisselt
Hisselt 6 G Dauvers
Subs—Hamilton for Hisseltz Ray for Dauvers, Danvers for Clark
Field Goals—Goldstrohm 1, Hisselt 2, Logan 5, Hetra 3, Hisseltz 2
Schupe 3, Clark 1.
Fouls—Westminster 11 out of 22
Geneva 10 out of 20 Referee—Hald

utes. Rosa was half of the Allegheny team, McMeekin and Hisselt broke in and performed well. Golby as usual was here, there and everywhere while Johnny Hetra played a nice floor game.

The consoling feature of the exhibition was an improvement in form over the several immediately preceding engagements. This improvement if continued, will prove the undoing of several of our coming adversaries.

The lineup—
Westminster 20 Allegheny 27
Hetra 1 F Rosa
McMeekin 1 F McClure
Logan 1 C Judd
Cleary 1 G Wolfe
Goldstrohm 1 G Selville
Subs—Snyder for McMeekin, Hisselt for Cleary, Randall for Logan, Lo for Snyder.

Field Goals—Hetra 1, McMeekin 1, Goldstrohm 1, Logan 2, Rosa 6, McClure 3, Judd 1, Wolfe 1.

FACULTY VALENTINE PARTY GIVEN AT WALLACES

Last Thursday evening from 8 to 12 o'clock the house of Dr. and Mrs. Wallace was the scene of a very quaint valentine party. The house was decorated with hearts, bows and arrows and all that goes with St. Valentine's day trimmings. Each of the faculty members was dressed to represent some Mother Goose rhyme.

The evening was spent in heart making and heart breaking games in composing valentine rhymes and in practicing Cupid's art of shooting hearts. Needless to say Mr. D. H. Mequiston took the prize at this ice cream and cakes in the form of hearts were served as refreshments.

Girls' Glee Club

Spreading the gospel of Westminster is the most adventurous course offered in the college curriculum. Those who qualified for the Girls' Glee Club this year experienced a genuine good feeling in preparing for the concerts of the season, and in the final singing before new Westminster friends mingled with some of our old ones.

Miss Nettie Johnson, Assistant Professor of Voice, directed the club during the 1923-24 season. Her experience in Girls' Glee Club work and her special interest in the Westminster club coupled with the determination of the girls to make the 1923-24 season the best justified its existence. Miss Johnson deserves special commendation for her excellent choice of songs which the club sang.

The program included several groups of songs by the entire club, with soprano solos by Rebecca Gibson and Emily Rich, and piano solos by Dorothy Kirkbride. Every audience was exceedingly appreciative, and gladly supported the concerts.

Previous to the annual tour, the club appeared in the New Castle High School and sang two groups of songs before the Junior High School pupils. The first regular concert also was given in New Castle, on Monday evening, March third. On Tuesday, the girls departed from New Wilmington and traveled to Elizabeth. There they were heartily welcomed and received much favorable criticism. The next concert was given in McKeesport on Thursday night before an exceptionally large audience. On Friday night the club sang in Bellevue, and there besides receiving whole hearted support the girls were entertained by some Westminster "grads."

The home concert was given Thursday night, March thirteenth, and the girls received many expressions of approval. The last concert of the season was given in Mercer, on Friday night, March twenty-first, and Mercer, too, was enthusiastic.

Men's Glee Club

QUARTETTE

One of the most successful musical organizations on the campus this year was the Men's Glee Club. Under the able leadership of Director Brelos the club, composed largely of untrained and inexperienced voices, scored a noteworthy success. A season of hard work was brought to a fitting climax by a week's tour in April. Concerts were given in Jamestown, Erie, Buffalo, Warren, and Butler. The demand for the club this year was extraordinary and many good bids had to be turned down.

A variety program was used including numbers by the entire club and specialties. The Glee Club numbers included the well-known classic and semi-classic numbers with a few old-time college songs and snappy encores thrown in. Two of the specialties were Director Brelos and a male quartet. Mr. Brelos' solos were well received at every concert. His careful selection of songs and his pleasing personality in conjunction with the general favoritism given his beautiful tenor voice added much attractiveness to the program. The male quartet composed of Messrs. Brelos, Reep, Carr, and Jackson, is probably the best organization turned out by the college of music for some years. Their selections were largely negro spirituals and crooning songs reinforced by a good supply of encores.

The club and all who aided its development in any way are to be congratulated on the successful season.

Drama

Dramatic Club

Westminster has taken more progressive steps in every department of its work and activity within the last few years than it has ever done through any corresponding period prior. Our neighbors may have surpassed us in certain fields; but they are the fields where the economic factor plays the vital part. Few have been the occasions indeed, when we have been forced to yield to the enemy in those activities commensurate with scholastic attainments. Westminster has always been an exponent of scholastic achievement and it is for this lofty conception of what constitutes an education that she is known.

There is one branch of activity free from the taints of professionalism, correlating with the ideals of the college, a credit to the institution, and of inestimable value to those participating therein, namely, the Dramatic Club. It has had a checkered existence and was but recently released from the shackles of private exploitation. At present the membership is on a competitive basis, open to every student and sponsored by the college department of public speaking.

During the past year the organization has presented a number of plays and these initial efforts have met with gratifying results. The year's work has necessarily been competitive; but with the membership once established the future endeavors of the organization must be permeated by that new Westminster spirit, the keynote of progress.

It is expected that this organization will be as effective as an agency for publicity as the Glee Clubs, and Debating Teams have been in the past. To make the club a success it will be necessary for all students in the school to continue to contribute their talents, even more freely in the future than they have done thus far, that Westminster may become renowned for dramatic productions.

Junior Minstrel

This year the Junior Class, forsaking the customary tradition of staging a play, decided to present to Westminster College students a Junior Minstrel. A minstrel program had not been given for years and so the Junior Minstrel was a big success, and with the fine singing and acting of our artists it was given a tremendous ovation by the audience. The excellency of its presentation was due to the untiring efforts of Eugene Carr. Mr. Carr created many of the acts himself and he also had charge of all rehearsals. The first act was the presentation of the usual black-face comedy. One of the features was the singing of Kicky Koo, by Carr and Cleary. The male quartet composed of Reep, Cleary, Carr, and Guthrie, by their singing of "That Old Gang of Mine," made a big hit. John MacLean as interlocutor of the act, performed in the manner of a veteran vaudeville artist.

In the second act the scene was shifted from a negro joke contest to a Bolsheviki camp, and the humorous side of the audience was stirred still further by the uprising and downfall of the rabid, bomb-throwing Bolsheviks.

The third act, entirely a creation of Mr. Carr's, was a big success of the evening, entitled, "A Rose Song Cycle." It featured the songs "Mighty Lak a Rose," and "Old Fashioned Garden," sung by Mr. Reep, whose tenor tones were clear and well rounded. Miss Clifton in this act took the part of the girl of two generations ago. The following two acts were light skits of a "Ragtime Wedding," and an early morning in camp.

Miss Fraser, as accompanist, contributed more than a little to the success of the performance and deserves much credit for her playing ability and presence of mind. Also Miss Mary Beth McLaughry should be mentioned as contributing to the success of the evening. Although she did not know what it was all about, she helped put across the Rose Song Cycle in a very real way.

The Junior Minstrel was a decided success, and it will be very difficult for any Junior Class of the future to surpass it in arousing enthusiasm.

May Day

On a beautiful day of May last year, according to the time-honored custom, the College watched the Festival of May given by the women of the College. The girls of the class of '25 had charge of the May Day. They worked long and hard and the program was proof of their efforts.

The town was crowded all day. Many of the Alumni and friends of the College were present together with the parents of the students. All day long greetings were passed and groups roamed up and down the streets or over the campus. About sunset, the crowd gathered around the campus. They waited patiently while the sky was splashed with scarlet and gold by the sun dropping behind the fields in the west. At last there came the heralding notes of a bugle, and the procession appeared. The Queen of the May, as fair as any spring flower, was accompanied by a gay company of laughing weavers and shepherdesses, and guarded by a jolly band of foresters, led by Robin Hood. The court minstrels upheld the honor of their ancient profession. The court jester capered about in such a way as to prove that it takes brains to be a good fool.

After the arrival of the procession, the Queen of the May (Leila Anderson) was crowned by last year's Queen (Betty Thompson). Then the Queen proceeded to the throne, where the court attendants gathered about her and there they watched the May Festival. With the quaint old-fashioned costumes and the eager young faces there on the grass beneath the tall old trees, the scene was one which carried the watchers back to a time long gone by—a time when the May Festival was a sacred rite, and the peasants of Merry Old England gathered each year to render homage to their chosen queen.

The revels for the pleasure of the May Queen were varied and beautiful. First was a stately dance given by the ladies of the court. They gravely bowed, turned, and lightly stepped over the grass always remembering their dignity as court ladies should do. Then came the dance of the shepherdesses. The costumes alone made it delightful. These dainty maids with their many colored bodices and long crooks, looked as though they had just left the sheep grazing on some sunny slope and come to pay tribute to the May Queen. The dance was lighter and gayer than the court ladies' dance. It had in its something of the care-free light-heartedness of those who live with nature. The Court Jester (Dorothy Wise), no longer able to repress his spirits, performed a series of antics to amuse the Queen and prove his skill. Then came the Weaver's Dance. It was so precise and correct that one was reminded of the shuttles flying back and forth. The costumes were so picturesque that the Weavers made a bright and interesting spectacle. After the Weavers' Dance, Robin Hood and his men gave a dance. Robin Hood (Jane Ferguson) and Maid Marion (Jean Aiken) led the dance and the merry men followed admirably. The forester's costumes of green, the close-fitting green hats with long plumes, and the woodsman's bow and arrows made a striking appearance, and the dance was of such a nature as to increase the impression of wild, free happiness. Following the dance of Robin Hood and his men came the winding of the May Pole. Then the closing dance, which was a wreath dance and was beautiful for its simplicity of costume and movement. Thus ended the festival. The Queen, accompanied by her court and followed by the revellers, took her way to the Hill-side just as dusk was falling.

The May Festival, for its unity, beauty of costume and poetry of motion will remain a pleasant memory in the minds of those privileged to watch it. To many of them it will seem a delightful dream, sweet as a spring breeze, but to the ones who labored many a long afternoon to perfect it, the May Festival will be a memory and more than a dream. It will be the thought of long, hard work and results making the work worth while.

Forensics

Men's Debate Review

There is one type of inter-collegiate contests in which Westminster has always more than held her own. That is debate. Forensic activities depend not on the amount of funds invested but on scholastic efforts and it is a significant fact that the old school has kept debate on such a high standard.

Dr. Mead coached the debate squad this year, and the results have proved his ability in that field. Under his direction the squad has put in some hard work and the teams have been unusually well prepared for hostilities. The season has been a very successful one. At the beginning, both the Negative and Affirmative teams defeated the opposing Waynesburg trios. It was a promising beginning and the promise has been in a large measure fulfilled. The next debate was a defeat at the hands of Bucknell's Affirmative team. This was rather an unexpected blow, but served to keep the squad working hard. Pitt succumbed to the attack of the Westminster Negative team in a hotly-contested debate. The decision was 2 to 1.

Shortly after Easter vacation there was a triangular debate with Thiel and Geneva. Geneva's Affirmative team debating at Westminster lost by a unanimous decision, and Westminster's Affirmative team lost at Thiel by a 2 to 1 decision. Westminster broke even in the triangular contest. This made a record of four won and two lost.

The debate squad was a large one and every one was given a chance to earn his T. K. A. key. Tau Kappa Alpha is the honorary debating fraternity and all who participate in an inter-collegiate debate are elected to membership. It is an honor to belong to the organization and means more work than most of the students suppose. Some five or six new men have made their debate letter this year and become members of the T. K. A. This is an unusually large number to bring in, but it means the certainty of a successful season next year and the necessary stimulation to try out for debate to many students desirous of the honor of a T. K. A. key.

The inter-collegiate subject for debate the past year was the question of United States entering the World Court. The college men and women of today are the citizens of tomorrow, and thus the college is a strong factor in forming public opinion. It is a comment on American college men and women to know that they are discussing vital problems of international interest and seeking the facts in the case through debating—than which there is no better way to bring out the fine points of the problem.

Girls' Debate Review

The forensic activities of the women of Westminster College have been marked by signal advancement this year. In the fall, the women, feeling the need of some preliminary training for varsity work, instituted a Freshman-Sophomore debate for women, to correspond with a similar custom which has obtained in men's forensics for some time past. The success of the undertaking surpassed anticipations, entirely justifying its continuance as a permanent feature of Westminster forensics.

The second achievement contributing to increased interest in women's debate, was the organization of an honorary fraternity, the Alpha Sigma Alpha. Membership is dependent upon participation in an inter-collegiate contest, and is an honor to be coveted in the anticipation of future membership in a national fraternity.

The increased interest aroused by the foregoing accomplishments is the foundation of a bright outlook for women's debate this year. Three members of last year's varsity remain, around which the squad has been built.

The Triangular League, composed of Geneva, Grove City, and Westminster, which has functioned for the last two years is again in operation and it is probable that action will be taken by the three schools this spring to make this league a permanent organization. Westminster, represented by Ruth Hamilton (Captain) Florence Pollard, and Elizabeth McKnight, who compose the affirmative team, will debate at Grove City, while Geneva will be encountered at Westminster; Hazel Smith (Captain), Anna Grace Smith, and Helen Mickulonic upholding the negative side of the question.

The question chosen for discussion this year is, "Resolved: That immigration be restricted to two percent of the nationalities shown by the census of 1890, a minimum quota of four hundred for each nationality being provided in all cases." Under the direction of Professor Mead the teams are rapidly being rounded into shape for the coming fray, from which Westminster hopes to emerge victorious.

Men's Freshman-Sophomore Debate

Again we find that the class of 1926 had the names of the members of its debate team inscribed upon the beautiful loving cup that bears the records of past conflicts between the two lower classes. The subject for debate was, "Resolved, that the United States should join the World Court as now constituted." The Freshmen were represented by Harry Newell, Robert Ferguson, and Brown Bricker (Capt.), with Ernest Bastress as alternate, while the Sophomores were represented by Joseph McFate, Harvey Moore, and Charles Wallace (Capt.), with Arthur Wilson as alternate.

A great deal of interest was aroused among the students because of its being a burning question of the day. Congress pondered over this question. The newspapers and magazines discussed it pro and con. The great minds of the age contemplated the advisability of the United States making this important step. So, too, the Freshmen and Sophomores of Westminster had to argue it out.

Long remembered will be that historical evening of December fifth, nineteen hundred and twenty-three, when those two teams clashed; the Freshmen upholding the affirmative and the Sophomores standing by the negative. It was close. The interest was high. The captains were probably the outstanding performers of the evening. Some said the Freshmen won. Some said the Sophomores won, but the judges said the latter won—two to one.

We pay high tribute to the work of Bricker. He is a real platform artist. To Wallace also we bow; he is a chip off the old block. May you be as successful as your dad! To the members of both teams we pay tribute, because all of them made the varsity debate squad.

For the first time in Westminster's history, a debate was held between the Sophomore and Freshman girls. It proved to be a great success. The subject was the much debated question, "Resolved, that the United States should join the World Court as now constituted." The Sophomore team, composed of Anna G. Smith (Capt.), Florence Pollard, and Louise McMorris, upheld the negative, while the Freshman team, Elizabeth McKnight (Capt.), Helen Davidson, and Isabel McConagha, argued the affirmative. The alternates were Ruth Campbell (Soph.), and Elizabeth Campbell (Fresh.). Miss Ethel Tracy, president of the girls' debate organization, presided. The judges were Dr. and Mrs. Russell and Dr. Freeman.

The question was well presented by each speaker, the rebuttals being especially interesting and exciting. A cleverly interpreted definition of the question enabled the Freshmen to come out victorious. The line of argument followed by the Freshmen was daring and a little unexpected. As a result of their strategy they won by a unanimous decision, thus making an even score in debate between the Sophomores and the Freshmen.

The holding of a Freshman-Sophomore girls' debate was in the nature of an innovation. It was believed that such a custom will develop material for girls' varsity debate and thus produce better teams in this field. Westminster has always taken a high place in debate, and judging by the showing of the under-class women, she will continue to do so for some years to come.

The size of the audience was indicative of the keen rivalry existing between the two classes, a rivalry insuring interest in future debates. It is hoped that these will be continued and will become as much of a custom as men's inter-class debates, helping to unearth material for the girls' varsity debate squad.

Student Volunteers

But little can be said in so small a space, of the various activities of the Westminster Volunteers. They have done far more to keep up the ideals of the old school than is generally recognized. By unceasing efforts to make the Christian ideals of character more prevalent on the campus they have rendered great service to the college.

During the past year the Volunteers conducted a convention for all the colleges of Eastern Pennsylvania. This convention brought to New Wilmington many students from the nearby colleges, and its results can not be overestimated. The students in attendance from other schools went back impressed with the Westminster spirit and the ideals which we strive to maintain here.

These Student Volunteers have also done much toward helping individuals wherever help has been needed. They have tried to live as true men and women and make their lives count for that which is highest. To take a firm stand upon certain matters generally smiled upon by the average student is no easy thing, but this small group has dared to stand for what it knew to be right, in spite of unpleasant criticism and even a little thoughtless ridicule.

Whatever may happen after graduation, the college will always have reason to be proud of those who signed the pledge to service in their college days, and certainly those who go forth to serve will always be proud of their Alma Mater, where college men and women search for truth and are always ready to lend a helping hand.

Lettermen's Organization

The lettermen's organization is a new organization on the campus. It has only been in existence for a year or two, but in spite of its newness, it has already proved its right to existence. It greatly helps in the co-operation between athletes and students, and between students and the Athletic Council. The organization also discusses the various points which rise out of athletics, such as awards and election of captains. The officers are: "Jerry" Wright, President, and Bernice Brothers, Secretary-Treasurer.

We are glad to welcome all those who have won the Westminster W to membership in the Lettermen's Organization. It is an organization that stands for clean, wholesome athletics. Its purpose is to protect and uphold the ideals for which the varsity letter stands. Much can be done by such a strong organization to better the athletic conditions by acting as a medium between the students and the Athletic Council. It is the desire of every member that Westminster be placed at the top in athletics as it now is in academic standing.

With the advent of the Athletic Council and a Graduate Manager the athletic department went into the hands of men who could direct all their attention to its betterment. Athletics is no longer a side issue under the control of the faculty which has other interests to hold its attention. Athletics now compose a separate department and it is believed that the Lettermen's Organization will help in raising the efficiency of that department.

The Campus Committee

The Campus Committee is that phase of student government which has to do with the rules and regulations governing women students. It has developed into a very effective organization. There are in all seventeen members. Seven girls from the Senior class, five girls from the Junior class, and three girls from the Sophomore class are elected each spring by the girls of their respective classes. With the organization of the incoming Freshman class the next fall two Freshman girls are chosen, thus making the membership complete.

The organization may be said to be entirely self-existent, working toward the definite goal of co-operation between faculty and students to the best advantage of all concerned. It is a legislative body in that the constitution and rules have been drawn up by the members. The executive power is vested in a chairman, vice-chairman, and secretary chosen by the members. All this merely establishes a working basis for the exercises of just judgment in the case of campus offenders. The girls have the privilege of making recommendations concerning dormitory and co-educational regulations to the Dean of Women through the medium of this committee. In turn measures under consideration by the Dean of Women are sometimes referred to the committee and their opinion and viewpoint sought.

Let us all co-operate in upholding the high standard of Westminster women and enjoy along with this the freedom of extended privileges.

Student Council

The Student Council is an organization not frequently heard of about the campus, but it functions to express the student will whenever such action is advisable. It is intended to express the student opinion, and as their voice it has made many valuable recommendations to the faculty. The student council has no executive power, but merely acts on student suggestions and discusses various measures for the improvement of the college. If these suggestions are approved they are drawn up in the form of recommendations to the particular authorities and after being voted upon in student forum are presented to the powers that be. In this way the will of the students is expressed clearly and the faculty and students are able to co-operate to mutual advantage.

The Council at present is composed of the following students: Mr. Jackson, Chairman; Miss Gilkey, Secretary; Misses North, Graham, and Smith, and Messers Long, Shane, Stevenson, and Hetra. During the past year it has made several recommendations, among them, that for the addition of an Argo fee to the activities fee of every student, and that for the lowering of the required grade for extra hours. A student forum is held every month in which the minutes of the council are read and its recommendations are passed upon. The students have the right to alter recommendations or vote them down, so that the council is always subject to a direct referendum. Student government is becoming the rule, and Westminster, while not under student government, by any means, permits the expression of student will through the Council.

The Y. W. C. A.

The Y. W. C. A. is forging the enduring chain of sisterhood on Westminster's campus. It embraces all women students of the institution and endeavors to develop initiative among them. In it each member knows a comradeship which proves that her interests and aspirations are worth sharing with her student sisters.

Lois Logan with her unusual preparation of experience and a peculiar responsibility in woman movements has given her best as president of the association this year. She has ever been mindful of the charge placed upon her and has interpreted her responsibility nobly. The advisers, Mrs. Jessie Robertson, Dean of Women, and Miss Mary Wallace, Associate Professor of English, have mothered the association wisely. It needs them and is happy for their willing service.

On Wednesday evenings, the members have discarded handicaps and brought their visions and understandings to the Hillside parlor, to discuss problems which unescapably concern women students. Their interest surrounds campus problems, national problems, and world problems. Together with students all over the world, they are endeavoring to widen the reach of love, to break down barriers of international misunderstanding, to promote friendship, justice, and good-will among peoples of the earth. A new and very important feature this year has been a series of vocational guidance talks by experienced women in various fields of service,—Religious Education in the Public Schools, Nursing, International Institute Work, Girl Scout Work, and advertising.

Many Big Sisters will go out from the campus this year.

*"One spark will remain in their hearts
And everywhere they go
A fire of love will be kindled."*

The Y. M. C. A.

When you hear the name of Westminster Y. M. C. A. mentioned you can be sure that mention is being made of an organization of young men filled with pep and with those four-fold characteristics which stamp them as types of Christ Himself. Without a doubt the Y. M. C. A. is one of the most vital organizations on Westminster's campus, both in spiritual development and in collegiate activity and study. The wide-awake activity during the past year has been one of the most forcible proofs to offer for these statements, because the "Y" has reached up and has come nearer to that goal of perfection at which it aims than in any previous year. The excellent co-operation for efficiency in the work that the Y. M. C. A. gave is a thing that cannot be over valued—for a large part of the success of the work hinged upon that co-operation. The members on the other hand co-operated among each other for the remaining successful achievements.

A word about the activities. One finds the "Y. M." promoting the Who's Who, Bible Class, Religious Week, conventions, sings and instrumental entertainments, track meets, and the "Y" Handbook, plus a dozen or more smaller undertakings.

The regular meetings held each Wednesday evening at 6:45 in the "Y" room in Old Main are of great benefit. The discussions sometimes wax warm and long, but after it is over there are no hard feelings. These meetings serve the purpose of renewing one's struggle to lead a well-rounded, four-fold life in Christ and the desire to serve Him. The discussions are led by student members of the "Y", for the most part, but now and then an authority on a special subject brings something of the viewpoint of the great world outside of college.

Inter-Sorority Council

The Inter-Sorority Council is one of our newest organizations on the campus—this being its initial year for activity. It was organized to promote fellowship and co-operation between the different sororities of the school and to deal with the problems confronting them in their relations to each other and to make uniform rules for the rushing and pledging of Freshmen girls to a sorority.

The Council was organized at the beginning of the school year. Officers were elected with the understanding that each sorority have one officer in the Council and that the office fulfilled be in accordance with the age of the sorority from the date of its charter. The offices rotate yearly. The Council consists of eight girls and two advisors. Two representatives, one Junior and one Senior, are elected to the Council by each sorority. The advisors, who are appointed by the President of the College, are Mrs. C. B. Robertson, Dean of Women, and Miss Elizabeth C. Whiteman, a faculty member. The advisors meet in conference with the Council, advising them on all matters.

By governing the sororities of the school by an Inter-Sorority Council it is believed that the standard of a sorority will be raised scholastically as well as socially and that each sorority will have an equal opportunity for the best.

As it is generally known, the first year of any organization consists in the constituting of rules and forming a firm foundation for the growth of a strong organization in the future years. It is hoped that the sororities of Westminster College will reap much benefit from the Inter-Sorority Council.

Inter-Fraternity Council

The Inter-Fraternity Council is an organization that has for many years made the rushing and pledging rules each year. It has provided for the Freshman until the rushing season, arranged that each Freshman should have a chance to get acquainted with the fellows of every fraternity and club, and watched over the rushing rules to see that they are not broken.

It is always a task to take care of the new men, and make rules for rushing which meet with conditions. The Freshmen, at their arrival on the campus, as a general rule, have no idea of the types of men for which the various fraternities stand. They have no idea which group they wish to associate with through college, and it would hardly be fair to pledge them immediately, as is done in some schools. So the Inter-Fraternity Council was organized. Through its oversight, each Freshman eats for two weeks at each fraternity and club. At the end of that time there is a short period of time for thought and then the rushing season begins. After the bids have been given, there is a period when no Freshman may be approached for rushing purposes, and then the new men are pledged according to their choice. These rules ensure a square deal all around.

Not only does the Inter-Fraternity Council make the rushing rules, but it functions in all matters of an inter-fraternal nature to preserve the true spirit of fellowship and brotherhood which has always permeated Westminster's campus. There has ever been a spirit of co-operation and friendship between the fraternities and clubs, and this spirit is stronger now than ever before, owing largely to the Inter-Fraternity Council.

WESTMINSTER COLLEGE

NEW WILMINGTON, PENNSYLVANIA

Westminster College, although United Presbyterian in burden and control, is inter-denominational in service. The College welcomes all earnest young people of whatever denomination of Christian faith.

LOCATION

Westminster is located sixty miles north of Pittsburgh in a village noted for morality and healthfulness, and overlooking one of the most beautiful valleys of the State. Through service over the Pennsylvania Lines and New York Central Railway makes the College easily accessible from all points. A paved road and bus service between New Castle, New Wilmington, and Sharon makes Westminster still more accessible to the larger centers of population.

EQUIPMENT

The College Plant is adequate for the accommodation of 400 students. The Administration Building, familiarly known as "Old Main," contains Chapel, twelve class-rooms, Library, and College Offices. It is scholastic in appearance and is adapted to all modern needs.

Science Hall contains three lecture rooms, six laboratories devoted to Chemistry, Physics, and Biology, Museum, photograph gallery, stock rooms and offices. The laboratories are furnished with the latest equipment with a fullness which challenges comparison with the collegiate departments of our best universities.

The College of Music is a building of exceptional beauty and convenience containing thirty-six rooms, embracing studios, practice rooms, libraries, reception parlors and concert hall. Steinway and Mehlin pianos are used by all teachers and new grade practice instruments are furnished all students, no instrument being kept longer than two years.

"The Hillside," a dormitory for young women, excels in beauty and convenience. A large number of rooms are furnished with private bath. The dining-room has been pronounced the most attractive to be found in any institution. About ninety young women can be accommodated.

The New Gymnasium is modern in all its equipment and is among the finest to be found in Pennsylvania Colleges.

FACULTY

Westminster's Faculty is large in proportion to the number of students and hence furnishes opportunity for thorough work and personal interest in students. All departments are in care of university trained teachers. Thoroughness is the watchword of each department.

CURRICULUM

The Curriculum of Westminster is purely collegiate with auxiliary courses in Public Speaking and Music. The courses of College work, Classical and Scientific, prepare for the work of the professional and technical schools, and also fit for High school and College positions. Graduates are accepted on diploma in leading universities, the College now holding membership on the accredited list of the Association of American Universities.

THE COLLEGE OF MUSIC

The College of Music is conducted by a corps of instructors who have had their work under the most eminent and successful masters of Europe and America. The work accomplished is everywhere recognized as of the highest order. No expense or effort is spared in making this department the equal of the best Musical Conservatories.

PHYSICAL CULTURE AND ATHLETICS

The Department of Physical Culture has been created by the addition to the Faculty of a Director of Physical Culture and Athletics. Physical training is required of all students, and all athletic sports are under supervision of the Director of Physical Culture and the respective coaches.

Football and cross-country running are the fall sports; basketball the winter sport; track, baseball and tennis those of the spring. The Department of Physical Culture, including all athletic activities of the College, is administered by the Athletic Council, representing the Board of Trustees, the Faculty, Students and Alumni.

MORAL IDEALS

Westminster has for her ideal effort the harmonious blending of broad scholarship, pure morality, and an evangelical atmosphere such as will foster reverence for the Bible as the word of God and sympathy with the missionary program of Christ. It is maintained that sane college discipline must demand from college students the same morality which has characterized the Christian home from which they come, and that under no circumstances should young people who are learning to make a living and a life through the sacrifices of Christian parents and endowments of the Church, be permitted a lower grade of moral conduct than those of their own age who, in the home community, are doing the work of life.

THE COLLEGE YEAR

The College year 1924-25 will open September 18th at 11 A. M. Matriculation and registration September 17th and 18th, 1924. Recitations begin September 19th, 8:15 A. M.

The Pittsburgh Theological Seminary

The Pittsburgh Theological Seminary enters upon its centennial year on September 24, 1924. It has enrolled about 1700 students. Its aim is to prepare men for the pastorate, the home mission field, and the foreign mission field. It has six full-time professors, with added instructors and lecturers. Eleven prizes are offered for rank in scholarship, including one which provides for a year of study abroad. Tuition and dormitory rooms are free, and boarding is at cost rates. There is in the vicinity of Pittsburgh a wide field for remunerative service in the United Presbyterian churches. University privileges are near at hand. The need for trained ministers is great and urgent. Students from Westminster College will receive a cordial welcome. For catalogue apply to

We emphasize our Suit and Topcoat groups at these prices. The selections are particularly large, and the superiority of the fabrics is accounted for by our policy of free-handed buying from only those makers who can meet our standards. This gives us choice of the country's best.
